6 Persons Dead, 3 Rescuers Missing

Torrential Rains, Winds Keep Lashing Northwest

By The Associated Press

Torrential rains, whipped along on gale force winds, continued to sweep across four Pacific Northwest states today, imperiling scores of cities and towns and causing millions of dollars damage.

Six persons have died and three rescuers were missing in the two-day storm that forced at least 5,000 persons to flee before the raging waters of a dozen flood-swollen mountain rivers.

A helicopter with three Coast Guardmen aboard was missing after evacuating 10 people off an island in California's Eel River.

Federal, state, and local disaster units worked frantically through the night in 65-mile-an-hour winds to complete evacuation of whole towns as the storm raged. The Weather Bureau predicted no let up today.

Another storm, about 700 miles off the coast, was expected to bring more rain by Christmas, the Weather Bureau forecast.

California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown at midday declared four northwestern counties disaster areas and appealed for federal assistance. Five other hard-hit northern counties sent urgent pleas for the state capitol for relief.

Gov. Grant Sawyer called out the Nevada National Guard to help workmen sandbag storefronts in downtown Reno as the Truckee River's flood waters spilled out of the Sierra into the heart of town.

Idaho's National Guardsmen were put on emergency duty by Gov. Robert E. Smylie, and 50 men were rushed to the beleaguered town of Bancroft in the southeastern part of the state.

Natural disaster seemed the order of the day. San Diego was hit by an earthquake, causing panic in the downtown area and widespread, but minor, damage.

Four drownings were blamed on the storm in Oregon. Dr. Robert Dickson, 60, of Chinook, Mont., drowned when the bridge over Interstate 8 gave way and he was thrown into the John Day River. Edward Kilgore, 48, of Sutherlinn, Ore., and Ella Cox, 65, of Roxeberg, Ore. were carried away by the overflow of Calapooia Creek after they fled their stranded car. An unidentified child perished in a car that ran into a washout in a canyon southeast of The Dalles, state police reported.

Most major rivers continued to rise and were over flood stage late Tuesday night. Only Interstate 5 remained open, and highway officials feared it would be two or three days before east-west roads could be opened.

All rail traffic was disrupted. Southern Pacific's line in the Cascade Mountains was blocked by a mudslide; the Union Pacific line was blocked at two points by washouts.

Johnson's Peacemakers Spur Dock Dispute Talks

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson's peacemaker in the contract dispute between Gulf Coast longshoremen and shippers tried today to get both sides around the bargaining table again. He said no immediate results were expected.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds held separate meetings Tuesday with representatives of the International Longshoremen's Association and the West Gulf Maritime Industry.

Reynolds said he feels that "there is a lot of misunderstanding that can be cleared up," and thus possibly avert a dock strike the length of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

While union leaders have approved a proposed new contract with New York shippers, the Gulf Coast ILA — involving ports from Lake Charles, La., to Brownsville, Tex. — is at a stalemate in its negotiations.

Bargining halted Saturday.

Longshoremen have continued work on a day-to-day basis since an 80-day no strike injunction obtained by the federal government expired Sunday.

Should the Gulfdock workers strike, there is a possibility of sympathy strikes which could paralyze shipping on the Eastern seaboard.

The dispute reportedly hinges on the size of work gangs. Houston- Galveston ILA locals have sought a minimum of 18 men to the gang. Presently there is no contract provision for any minimum.

There also is an unsettled question of whether any pay increase would be retroactive to Oct. 1, when the old contract ran out.

Reynolds arrived Tuesday and went at once into a closed meeting with ILA officials. He conferred with shippers Tuesday night, again behind closed doors.

He told newsmen he is "no whip cracker" for the administration.

Crucible's Head Predicts Stainless Steel Growth

The president of the Crucible Steel Co. of America sees a rising demand for stainless steel in 1965 for the nation's producers of that type of steel, with the growth expected to be faster in Europe than in the United States.

Joel Hunter commented at a conference at the company's headquarters in Pittsburgh Tuesday that he expects the domestic increase in stainless steel shipments over the next 10 years would be 6 per cent annually, and 12 per cent abroad.

He said Crucible is operating at 100 per cent capacity on flat-rolled stainless steel, principal product of the Midland Works.

Hunter said it might be expected that 1965 demand in the United States would be 6 per cent higher than the 773,000 tons that will have been produced in 1964 and that, in turn, compares with 659,000 tons in 1963.

Flat-rolled stainless is one of the products in which there is hedge buying in anticipation of a possible steel strike next spring.

Hunter's prediction on stainless leaped over the possibility that steel demand will experience a downturn after the labor problem is settled.

Anti-U.S. Step Hinted In Saigon

May Involve Street Rioting Aimed At Ambassador Taylor

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — There were indications tonight that South Vietnamese military men were cranking up an anti-American campaign that may even involve street demonstrations against U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor.

Informed sources said Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, commander of the armed forces, already has drawn the outlines of such a campaign before his military council of some 20 high officers.

It was not known whether the civilian premier, Tran Van Huong, would go along, but Khanh had clearly become the strongest man in South Viet Nam for the time being.

Khanh told the nation by radio Tuesday night that no foreign power could impose its policies on his armed forces.

In the speech, Khanh was clearly taking an anti-American tone, with the added assertion his country could go on without American assistance if necessary.

Later, Khanh granted an interview to a correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune, in which he directly attacked Taylor. Khanh was quoted as saying that if Taylor did not act more intelligently Southeast Asia would be lost.

According to other highly informed sources, Khanh told his council of generals that tough pressure on the United States must now be applied, and that this should include anti-American demonstrations if necessary.

In the midst of this, the U.S. State Department said it could not condone "improper interference" in Viet Nam's civilian government.

May Find Space Resembles Freeway At Rush Hour

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —When Santa Claus makes his chimney-to-chimney goodwill journey Thursday night he may find that space resembles a freeway at rush hour.

He might be wise to equip his sleigh with control jets or retro-rockets so he and his reindeer can maneuver through the jam of fast-moving satellites and "space junk" orbited by man.

The latest count shows there are 297 man-made objects racing through space at altitudes from 100 miles to several million miles.

These are satellites, dead and alive; burned out rocket casings, and fragments of metal which have fallen off satellites or rockets. They are widely scattered and Santa should have little trouble weaving around them.

But he'd better have his radar on the alert for a cluster of 202 small fragments which are orbiting close together. They are the fallout from a U.S. Transit navigation satellite rocket which disintegrated in 1961.

If Santa doesn't want to become a pincushion, he'd detour around the band of Project West Ford space needles. These are 400 million hair-thin copper wires, called dipoles, launched in 1962 in a communications experiment. They are about 2,000 miles up and form a continuous north-to-south belt around the earth about five miles wide and 25 miles thick.

The orbiting objects are what remain of more than 600 pieces of hardware — excluding the needles and Transit debris — shot into space by the United States and Soviet Union since Sputnik 1 was launched Oct. 4, 1957.

Of the larger pieces still aloft, 259 belong to the United States, 38 to the U.S.S.R.

Thirty of the American satellites still are beeping signals — transmitting weather pictures, communications signals, military information and a wealth of data on secrets of the universe.

The Russians don't say how many of their satellites are operating. They do say that their Zond-2 is beeping along toward Mars — as is the U.S. Mariner 4.

The figures reflect the greater number of successful American space shots. Since the space age began, the United States has orbited 236 earth satellites, six solar satellites and hit the moon three times. The Soviets have launched 76 successful earth satellites, five sun vehicles and hit the moon once. The United States has sent six astronauts into space; the Soviets have orbited nine.

3 Cuban Exiles Charged With Bazooka Shot At UN

NEW YORK (AP) — Three Cubans, identified as officials of an anti-Castro exile group, have been charged with taking part in the Dec. 11 bazooka shot at the United Nations building.

They were quoted as saying they purposely missed the 38-story East River skyscraper; that their motive was to take newspaper headlines from Ernesto Guevara, Cuban minister of industry, who was speaking to the U.N. General Assembly at the time.

The three Cubans were booked Tuesday night in Queens, from where the rocket was fired.

The missile from the World War II German-made rocket launcher soared over a tugboat and exploded in the river about 100 yards from the U.N. secretariat building on the Manhattan shore. No one was hurt.

Stanley Ross, editor of El Tiempo, a Spanish-language weekly newspaper, said the three men told him before their arrests that they had purchased a deactivated bazooka for $35 from a war surplus store in Manhattan and fashioned a firing device out of an automobile ignition.

Ross said the men told him they could have hit the U.N. headquarters "but purposely didn't."

Ross said his reporters had found out who the perpetrators were and that he had urged the three to surrender. The three were planning to do that when police picked them up, he said.

Police said the arrests resulted from painstaking work on their part, including checkups on the sale of bazookas.

There were unconfirmed reports the FBI would make further arrests in connection with the bazooka sale. The FBI declined comment.

The Cubans were booked as Julio Carlos Perez, 31, a Teletype repairman from the Bronx, and brothers Ignacio Novo, 26, a shoe salesman of Manhattan, and Guillermo Novo, 25, a doorman from North Bergen, N.J.

Chief of Detectives Philip J. Walsh, who gave the brothers' names as "Nova," said the three were charged with endangering life maliciously by placing an explosive near a building, and with attempting to damage a building or a vessel, both felonies punishable by up to 25 years in prison on each count. They also were charged with conspiracy.

Remarks Are Made In U.S. Displeasure Over Military Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk urged feuding factions in Saigon today to set aside personal considerations and what he called lesser issues in the interest of getting on with the war against Red guerrillas.

Rusk did not name any particular South Vietnamese leader, but his remarks at a news conference came amid strong U.S. displeasure over moves by Saigon generals to purge the civilian leadership.

With President Johnson's approval, the State Department issued an unusually tough statement Tuesday night warning Vietnamese generals that American support is based on the existence of a Saigon government of national unity "without improper interference from any group."

The statement also gave full backing to U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, whose efforts to undo Sunday's military purge of the civilian regime came under attack from the Vietnamese army commander Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

"A duly constituted government exercising full power on the basis of national unity and without improper interference from any group," the U.S. statement said, "is the essential condition for the successful prosecution of the effort to defeat the Viet Cong and is the basis for U.S. support for that effort."

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey declined to say whether the strong U.S. wording amounted to an ultimatum threatening an end to large-scale U.S. aid if the military do not keep hands off the legitimate government.

Other U.S. authorities took a dim view of Tuesday's broadcast by Khanh, who as premier had had strong support from the U.S. government and from Taylor earlier this year.

Russian Spy Freed In Bail Of $100,000

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Igor Ivanov, sentenced to 20 years in prison for his part in an espionage conspiracy, was freed today in $100,000 bail pending appeal of his conviction.

The Russian chauffeur, 34, was brought to federal court here from the Hudson County Jail, Jersey City, where he was held following his sentencing last Friday.

Bail of $100,000 had been granted Ivanov last December, a month after his arrest, but was revoked by U.S. Judge Anthony Augelli Friday. The money was posted by the Soviet Embassy. The original bail money was reapplied today.

The bail was set Tuesday by the Third Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia after Ivanov's attorney presented a letter from Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin. The letter guaranteed Ivanov's appearance in court.

Ivanov and John W. Butenko, an American electronics engineer from Orange, were convicted by a federal jury of conspiring to transmit U.S. Air Force secrets to the Soviet Union. Butenko was sentenced to 30 years in prison.

Butenko has been held without bail since his arrest in an Englewood railway station in October 1963. Ivanov was arrested at the same time.

A New Castle driver escaped injury when his car missed the sharp curve at the bottom of the Route 30 Chester Hill and smashed into a dairy stand at Carolina Ave. and 8th St. early today.

The 1962 sedan driven by William B. Seanor, 22, broke through the brick wall and shattered a large plate glass window of the Tastee Freeze structure adjacent to the Chaney Service Station.

Chester Police Chief Harold Davis said Seanor's car skidded about 150 feet downhill, and he was apparently traveling too fast to make the turn at the site where a number of trucks and cars have careened off the highway onto the Chaney property.

Seanor was charged with failure to have his vehicle under control, and posted $30.50 bond for a hearing before Mayor Harry Abrams Monday.

The Chaney family, which was not awakened by the crash at 1:50 a. m., said no damage estimate has been obtained.

Russian Spy Freed In Bail Of $100,000

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Igor Ivanov, sentenced to 20 years in prison for his part in an espionage conspiracy, was freed today in $100,000 bail pending appeal of his conviction.

The Russian chauffeur, 34, was brought to federal court here from the Hudson County Jail, Jersey City, where he was held following his sentencing last Friday.

Retelling Of The Nativity

Christmas Series Opens Tonight In Area Churches

By ROSE NUZZO

Christmas is the celebration of the birthday of Jesus Christ, the only begotten Son of God. It was in Bethlehem that He was born to the virgin, Mary, and was laid in the manger, for there was no room in the inn.

The angelic choir sang His welcome with a "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace and good will toward men."

THE SHEPHERDS in the distant places came in from the fields to gaze upon the Child while wise men journeyed from afar to worship Him and present unto Him gifts of gold.

This story will be told over and over again as Christians attend special services in many area churches tonight, Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

IN KEEPING with the celebration, sanctuaries will be decorated with colored lights, arrangements of poinsettias, pines and ferns. Holy Communion will be celebrated in many.

Enlarged choirs will sing carols and anthems associated with the Story of the Nativity.

The traditional Midnight Mass will be celebrated in area Catholic Churches and music will be provided by Adult and Youth Choirs.

The children will also participate in the services of the various churches, presenting special programs.

THE ANNUAL Christmas program by the Bible School of the First United Presbyterian Church will be held tonight at 7:30 and will feature a play, "Why the Chimes Rang," under the direction of Mrs. Steve Richman. Treats will be distributed.

The children's program of the First Baptist Church will be held tonight at 7:30 featuring the Nursery, Kindergarten, Primary, Junior, Junior High I, II and III Departments.

Auto Misses Curve, Rams Dairy Stand

A New Castle driver escaped injury when his car missed the sharp curve at the bottom of the Route 30 Chester Hill and smashed into a dairy stand at Carolina Ave. and 8th St. early today.

The 1962 sedan driven by William B. Seanor, 22, broke through the brick wall and shattered a large plate glass window of the Tastee Freeze structure adjacent to the Chaney Service Station.

Chester Police Chief Harold Davis said Seanor's car skidded about 150 feet downhill, and he was apparently traveling too fast to make the turn at the site where a number of trucks and cars have careened off the highway onto the Chaney property.

Seanor was charged with failure to have his vehicle under control, and posted $30.50 bond for a hearing before Mayor Harry Abrams Monday.

The Chaney family, which was not awakened by the crash at 1:50 a. m., said no damage estimate has been obtained.

Rising Temperatures Interrupt Ice Skating

With the mercury standing near 50, Mayor Merrill D. Hall said today ice skating at Thompson Park has been called off until further notice.

The floor of a picnic pavilion was flooded to provide a rink late last week as the mercury dipped well below the freezing mark. But the gradual rise in the temperature turned the ice to slush and then to water, the mayor explained.

More Clues Checked In Holdup At Salem

SALEM — City police and Columbiana County sheriff's deputies today checked out further clues in the holdup of an Ellworth Ave. market Monday night in which a police officer and store official were held at gunpoint and the officer's cruiser used for the getaway.

Township Clerks Reminded On Preparations For Voting

Township clerks in Elkrun, Madison, Middleton and St. Clair were reminded today by the County Election Board of the necessity for election equipment to be erected in precinct polling places in their subdivisions in time for a special election Jan. 5 in the Beaver Local School District.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, explained that letters have been sent to the four clerks asking them to arrange for erection of the equipment, as usual, in advance of the school district's balloting on a 5.4-mill operating levy.

Not all of the clerks have replied and some may have forgotten the request in the rush of the holiday season, O'Hanlon pointed out. The Election Board compensates the township officials for their work in erecting booths, ballot boxes, tables, chairs and other equipment in the polling places.

Sixteen of the 17 usual polling places will be used in the special election. The number was reduced by one by combining the Glenmoor and West Precincts of St. Clair Township, which both vote at the Glenmoor fire station.

All precinct personnel have received notices to serve and presiding judges have been advised to pick up supplies for the polling places between 9 a. m. and noon Monday, Jan. 4, at the board's office on W. 6th St., O'Hanlon said. The supplies will be returned to the office here after the polls close.

As soon as the tabulation has been completed, the precinct personnel will telephone the figures to the board's office. The unofficial tabulation of returns will be completed that night. The official canvass probably will be made on Jan. 6 or 7.

O'Hanlon said 10 absentee ballots have been issued to date for the special election. All have been voted and returned to the board.

Waiver Helps Early Trial In Salem Action

Seeking to expedite a Common Pleas Court hearing on the validity of a Salem ordinance realigning ward boundaries, the County Election Board has waived its right to certain routine procedures, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk said today.

Solicitor Thomas Coe of Salem, acting with the Election Board's consent, filed a petition at Lisbon Monday asking a declaratory judgment that will decide the validity or nullity of the legislation.

The Elcetion Board had ruled Dec. 10 that the legislation was invalid, citing an opinion issued by Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw about four years ago that knocked out a similar piece of legislation.

Brokaw's opinion said a city council has a right to realign ward boundaries, but only if it acts within three months after the secretary of state has proclaimed Ohio population figures, based on the latest decennial census. The last such proclamation was issued in 1960.

Brokaw's prior ruling applies to the new ward realignment ordinance, the Election Board held, and it was supported by the prosecutor and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

O'Hanlon said the board's waiver of the so - called "day rule" and "answer day rule" probably will expedite a hearing on the validity of the ordinance by as much as six weeks. Court attaches had indicated earlier at Lisbon that the case probably would be heard early in January.

"We are as anxious as the Salem officials for an early decision in this matter," O'Hanlons commented. "We want the situation clarified. We don't want it to keep bobbing up at intervals."

Salem Council sought to equalize the population of the four wards by realigning the boundaries. It enacted the legislation in mid - November. The ordinance then was vetoed by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer. Council over rode the veto on Dec. 1.

Salem city officials later furnished the Election Board with a certified copy of the ordinance. The board acknowledged receipt, but then cited the prosecutor's ruling that it said makes the legislation invalid.

Youth Faces Charges After Minor Collision

A 17-year-old driver was cited to Juvenile Court on two counts after a minor collision Tuesday at 2:10 p. m. on Maple St. near Pennsylvania Ave., police reported.

Elmer L. Shreve of Lee St. was accused of improper backing and driving without an operator's permit after his 1962 station wagon bumped a 1950 two - door sedan operated by Homer E. Rose, 40, of 455 1st Ave., officers said.

Rose said his car was halted when Shreve's backing vehicle struck it. There was damage to the front of Rose's car and the rear bumper and tail light of the station wagon, owned by Brown's Auto Sales of Pennsylvania Ave., police said.

Thief Takes Another Yule Tree Off Porch

For the second time in three days, a thief made off Tuesday night with a Christmas tree from an East Liverpool family's porch, police said.

The first theft was reported Sunday by Everett Moore, 928 Morton St. He said a Yule tree worth $2 was taken from his porch.

Would It Be Wise To Change Setup?

Once again the six - man Democratic majority in City Council is attempting to abolish the job of D. G. Wilkinson, income tax commissioner, on the grounds of economy.

The latest move developed in action on legislation that would transfer the operation of the tax office, effective Jan. 1, from Treasurer Bert A. Dawson to Auditor Lawrence J. Zollinger.

No one can be critical of a Council for endeavoring to economize in the municipal operation. But the question again rises whether this would be economy in the long run and whether the efficiency of the tax office would suffer.

Mr. Wilkinson, a Republican, has had his troubles previously with the Democratic councilmen, a similar attempt being made last April to abolish his position, also on the grounds of economy.

Council's present plan apparently would make Mr. Zollinger responsible for the operation of the tax office in addition to the city auditor's post to which he was elected by the people.

As Councilman Robert W. Sample pointed out, the tax office is not a small operation. Its transactions this year will amount to approximately $300,000.

There is no way in which the auditor could be compensated for the additional work and responsibility. State law forbids a salary boost for an elected official during his term. Mr. Zollinger's four - year term has two more years to run.

So the effect of the change would be to continue the auditor at his $4,200-a-year job and also require him to assume the duties of another post that now pays $5,400.

Some of the councilmen indicated they feel E. Allan McKeever, chief clerk in the auditor's office, could be placed in charge of the income tax operation. Mr. McKeever is a competent man with figures and no doubt he could administer the office well — but only after he had learned the complicated procedures.

Removing him from the work in the auditor's office would leave a gap in the staff and presumably another employe would have to be hired to take up the slack.

So at best the present plan sounds like a proposal to eliminate one job, but create another to compensate.

The Review opposed the earlier suggestion in April to eliminate the commissioner's job. Its position remains unchanged.

One Gift That Was Welcome

Over The Top In A United Way

Blending in appropriately with the Christmas season was the official announcement Tuesday that the East Liverpool area's United Fund has surpassed its goal of $110,000.

It represents a welcome gift for the agencies which will benefit — the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Red Cross, Camp Fire Girls, Salvation Army, YMCA, Recreation Council, USO, Cerebral Palsy, the BPW's Child Clinic and the Child Counseling Center.

This is the first time the solicitation has been conducted under the banner of the United Fund, but it marks the third year in a row that the drive has gone over the top—previously as the Community Fund.

Major credit must go to those people who contributed so generously. Without their support there could have been no hope of success. Also deserving recognition are the many volunteer leaders and workers who stayed with the solicitation from the kickoff until the goal was attained.

Another full and worthwhile program is in the works for each agency concerned because enough people saw fit to rally to their causes. The services rendered will more than compensate for the investment involved.

The Scars Of Wisdom

There are times when we have wished former President Dwight D. Eisenhower would call a halt to his political experting. These times have occurred when the supreme commander of the Allied forces that finally destroyed the Axis powers betrayed his unfamiliarity with the realities of his postwar political career.

There never has been a time when Gen. Eisenhower's expertise in military matters has been questioned. As military experts go, he stood at the top of the group. He had the victories to show for his competency and nothing else matters in military success. It's not how you win, but whether you win.

His comment that Franklin D. Roosevelt's edict of unconditional surrender at Casablanca in late January 1943 lengthened the war and fattened the casualty lists must be taken at face value. It is the considered opinion of one of the great military minds of the 20th century.

It reflects no credit by hindsight on the wisdom of President Roosevelt in 1943, though it reflects less discredit than will be imagined by people who have forgotten why it seemed necessary in 1943 to talk about total destruction of the Axis nations' power to wage war.

The terror that had been struck in Europe and Japan was a very real thing in the early years of World War II. No one wanted to take the chance of being on the losing side. France already had capitulated to the Axis.

The Allies needed to make it clear they were in no mood to settle for an accommodation with Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo. This was what Mr. Roosevelt was trying to do. He was trying to stiffen the backbone of the neutralists and the waverers.

Inadvertently, he gave the Axis leaders a talking point for last-ditch warfare, under the claim that the Germans had nothing to gain or even to hope for by giving up short of an all-out effort.

If it could be done over, it might be done better. But at the time it had to be done, it was done as well as anyone knew how to do it.

Gen. Eisenhower, himself, would have to concede that.

Meanwhile, Back At The Ranch

It is reassuring to know that while the rest of us are piling up personel debts in a year - end extravaganza, President Johnson will be whittling away on the federal budget at his Johnson City, Tex., ranch.

It is reported that budget requests have reached a total of more than $108 billion.

It is also reported that the President wants to keep the budget total under or close to $100 billion. This would represent an attitude of prudence.

He struck this attitude when he presided over his first budget deliberation last January. Instead of stunning the country with another annual increase in spending, he submitted a budget a shade under 198 billion and proposed a tax reduction.

The result is economic history.

The economy boomed. The theory that tax reduction could produce a revenue increase by stimulating the economy held up in practice.

They could see why the over-all federal budget had to be larger year by year to take care of a larger population and their government's growing responsibilities abroad and at home.

What concerned them was the rate at which federal spending had been accelerating — from $28 per capita per year in 1930, to $68 in 1940, to $262 in 1950, to $427 in 1960.

They needed proof that the federal government could control its spending; that its budget was not out of control.

The world needed proof that the United States could regulate its spending.

It is too soon to say that President Johnson will furnish the proof. But he has given every appearance of wanting to furnish it.

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: It seems silly to be writing you a letter when I will see you in person Christmas Eve.

But if I didn't write this letter in advance, all the people who read over your shoulder would think Christmas was too much for me. I do not want to leave that impression.

I can take Christmas in my stride 365 days a year and not twitch a whisker.

I do not mean the commercial part, because I would go broke. I am half-broke now.

I mean the spirit of Christmas. This part I could take like branch water.

All that holds me back is fear of being called a kook. Remember that fellow who used to give away money in New York City? No one gave him credit for perpetuating the spirit of Christmas. He was classified as an odd ball.

AS SOON as Christmas is over and celebrants of the Great Day snap back into their normal behavior patterns, I go back into my shell, too, and quit yammering about peace on earth and good will toward men.

I do not pretend to forgive people who have given me a hard time.

I do not go through the motions of loving mine enemies.

I keep my other cheek turned in the direction away from the blow that all but knocked me into the hereafter. I use survival tactics.

But let it be put down to my credit that I am willing to get back into the Christmas spirit on a minute's notice, wishing peace on earth and good will even to men who feel no good will toward me.

This is the way I would like to feel all the time.

I want to love my fellowmen — all of them, all colors, all creeds, all ideologies.

U.S. Unions Open War On Pro-Reds

By Victor Riesel

UNITED NATIONS

Recently a rather self-satisfied high government leader of Mali (West Africa) pleasantly and quietly told a foreign correspondent that "In five years all Africa will be pro- (Communist) Chinese and engaged on the road to socialism."

Victor Riesel

The quote, and lots more in similar grim vein, are amply backed by a long discussion which took place in Mali's barren capital city, Bamako.

This talk was held not too long after a Communist-controlled All-Africa Trade Union Federation had met there to plan the capture of organized labor in Africa. That was last June. They planned well. They are on the move. Their organizers, financed by the Sino-Soviet bloc, are all over the continent.

Democratic African union leaders, many of them now doubling as their nation's diplomatic envoys at the United Nations, have fought back. But with little money, no real headquarters, a lack of trained personnel and organizers and even a shortage of typewriters and duplicating machines, they—and therefore world freedom—are losing.

NOW IT CAN BE revealed that the African free labor men will be joined by a strong force in their counter offensive against the Sino-Soviet invasion.

American labor, led by blunt-speaking George Meany, AFL-CIO president, who wars on world Communism with tri-hammer impact and regularity, is launching an African-American Labor Center. Its headquarters is right opposite the U.N. building.

Its executive director is the peripatetic Irving Brown, one of the Americans most trusted by governments and rank-and-file alike in Africa. It was Brown, playing a "Scarlet Pimpernel" role in bombed-out post-war Europe, who helped the free unions fight off Stalinist attacks and survive in the late '40s.

Europe was then in rebirth. Africa today is also building on old societies. Labor leaders of yesterday are the heads of state and the cabinet members and envoys of today.

Labor movements of yesterday are the basic structure of functioning governments of today. If these labor unions are captured by the Sino-Soviet agents, the government will be captured, too, and therefore the continent.

IN THIS STRUGGLE the African-American Center is offering its skills and manpower and tools as weapons. Its collective hand is being extended in a series of letters now being mailed by Mr. Brown to 35 African unions and many governments in the former British and French colonies.

This three-page communication also makes the point that bread and jobs and security depend on capital investments.

"It also will encourage labor-management cooperation," Mr. Brown writes, "to expand American capital investment in African nations."

The communication says that Mr. Meany, president and chairman of the board of directors of the African-American Labor Center, pledges to interest many technicians be they labor, governmental or business.

The letter asks the African unions to furnish the Center with ideas, programs and plans in which the Center can participate. Meany and Brown and the board want this project to be a joint venture—not just an effort to hand down an alleged superior culture.

IN ADDITION to offering the African labor movement and their governments a hand in the new economic complex into which they are moving, the Center has a ground level program. One of its people, the charming Maida Springer, already has left for Nigeria, a sprawling West African nation of 55 million which needs an international communication and transportation system to weld the populace.

Mrs. Springer has gone to set up and supervise a motor drivers school. It will train Africans in skills needed to operate such vehicles and other equipment.

In turn, after the many tribesmen have been taught English, arithmetic, maintenance, and the full meaning of public regulations, these trainees will be able to obtain jobs by the thousands and form the basis of a strong transportation union.

Last year Mrs. Springer helped set up a sewing and tailoring training school in Nairobi, Kenya, the largest garment manufacturing center in Africa.

Thus it will be done, with vocational schools, clinics, housing projects, night and summer schools, and the loan of typewriters, mimeograph machines and American capital investment.

Men live by more than bread alone. But first must come the bread. That is the dedication of the men of the new Center.

Space Dust

The dust that interests the scientist comes from space, the National Geographic Society says. Several million tons drift down through the atmosphere each year and mix with dirt from terrestrial sources. Now and then, a housewife may sweep up a trace of space dust, not dreaming it came from the moon or beyond.

Moon dust may be sprayed toward the earth when a meteor smacks into a lunar mountain. The impact could be so great that some fragments escape the moon's gravity and eventually come to the earth. A ton or more of lunar dust may filter through the atmosphere each day.

As the earth orbits around the sun, it picks up countless other micrometeoroids — tiny bits of matter—that are left behind by passing comets or asteroids. The total accumulation since the earth's formation may amount to as much as 10 feet over its entire surface.

Political Facts Of Life

By David Lawrence

Some Of The Things That Win Votes

Most of the dialogue going on now among Republicans as to how to reshape their party seems to ignore the moods and desires of the American voter.

David Lawrence

A lot of talk is being heard, for example, about a positive program or platform, the assumption being that everything that's negative is bad. Yet the simple truth is that the American voter often wants to express his negative attitude in a more positive way than moderates or middle-of-the-roaders seem to realize. Likewise, a campaign that is confined to cliches and the language of the highbrow and the intellectual becomes neither positive nor negative but simply incomprehensible to the voter himself.

Elections are not won by complex proposals that spell out in positive or explicit terms the promises that are offered. Whatever pledges of a utopian nature are made in politics are usually in general and vague terms, such as the great society or the New Deal, which present an ideal rather than a program.

POLITICAL HISTORY shows that in campaigns affirmative issues are rarely emphasized. The strategy which seems always to be successful is to knock down the opposing party and paint its proposals as likely to bring human disaster or financial bankruptcy or a horrible war.

Conversely, a party in power resists such attacks by picturesque words that try to portray the other party as likely to bring depressions and other inconveniences and losses.

Out of every hundred voters, for instance, how many remember the 1964 campaign speeches of either party, and how many today can recall what positive proposals Lyndon Johnson made in the recent campaign?

How many more, on the other hand, recall the words "trigger-happy" or "reckless" or "dangerous" and the charge about "wrecking your Social Security"?

Personalities have something to do with the outcome of campaigns, but not always. Some of the most able men in America, running on an excellent platform and making good campaign speeches, have been defeated by opponents of mediocre quality and of lesser ability.

If the voters are in a mood of resentment, it doesn't matter to them how truthful the characterization of a candidate's merits may be.

ONE REASON for the mistakes of many politicians is that they really do not understand grass-roots sentiment. This is particularly true of political leaders who emerged from the so - called intellectual centers where the exponents of party philosophy vie with one another in expressing their respective ideologies.

The average man is interested in the retention of his job, in higher income, in better living conditions, in education for his children and in keeping out of war.

He isn't concerned over whether the candidate dresses well or has many college degrees or can make a good speech or has a glamorous personality. Seventy million voters today do not differ from the 40 or 50 million of a few decades ago.

Perhaps the best proof of the superfluous nature of the intellectual type of party campaigning is to be found in the casual way in which national platforms are treated. Few papers print them in full text. They are rarely heard of in the weeks after the party convention has adopted them. Occasionally one or two planks are emphasized in a political campaign, but by and large even the candidates for Congress, if suddenly quizzed, would hardly be able to remember exactly what was in their own party platform.

Under these circumstances, those who would reorganize the Republican party will be wasting time if they confine themselves to such words as "exclusionary" or "extremism" or "moderation" or even "positive" or "negative."

THEY WOULD be better advised to go to some book of simplified English for words to tell the voter that what they intend to do is to enable him to get higher wages, to make it possible for his dollar to buy more than ever before, to build more and better roads, to win the war against crime and render the city streets safe again, to provide tuition grants to educate all children in both public and private schools, to build an armament program that will require fewer and fewer soldiers and depend more and more on apparatus and to make sure that our defense is sufficient to deter any enemy and keep us out of war.

There are lots of platitudes which haven't been used in a long time, but in previous campaigns have been successful.

Above all, the program of a political party cannot resemble the thesis written to attain a master's degree in one of the Ivy League universities. It has to catch the eye and win the votes of men and women who are faced every day with the practical side of living and would like to be able to get a better income, a better dollar and a better community life.

Political Discontent

By James Marlow

In the wake of their election disaster, some Republican mourners are tormenting themselves over the new kind of life they want to lead.

If this seems melancholy just before the new year, Republicans don't have a monopoly on it. Some Democrats in Congress are unhappy with some of their elders.

All this gives a sense of motion, suggesting change. But political discontents come and go, like enthusiasm for Elvis Presley, and in the end nothing may change much.

Some Republicans want to chase Dean Burch off the field as chairman of the Republican National Committee. He won't budge. They've tackled him, but he's still on his feet.

This is a post-season search for a new head coach since Sen. Barry Goldwater, who was the Republican standard bearer, said it would be a vote of no confidence in him if Burch is thrown out. He had handpicked Burch as chairman.

This is being realistic since the issue is whether Goldwaterites are to remain in position to run the party and speak for it. But birching Burch isn't all that's troubling Republicans.

The man who wants his job — Michigan's Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., 51 — only five years ago helped Halleck get the leadership away from Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts who is now 80 and still in Congress.

Halleck, a conservative, has been criticized by some for what they called his "negativism" as a leader.

But if Ford should replace Halleck it wouldn't mean a change in ideology. Ford is a conservative, too, although he might give the Republicans a larger look of up-and-at-'em.

He was a football player, the athletic type. Halleck is roundish.

Meanwhile, liberal House Democrats, with their numbers swelled by the election to the point where they may outnumber the conservative Democrats, want to shake the House out of ways which seem fixed in cement — like the Washington Monument and just as unbudgetable.

For instance, they want to dilute the strength of the Rules Committee. Like all committees, it is composed of Democrats and Republicans. But this happens to be one of the most powerful and conservative on Capitol Hill.

It is sometimes one of the worst bottlenecks in the place because, under the House rules, it can keep a bill from going up to the floor to be voted on by the whole House.

The liberals want to make it easier to force this committee to act on legislation and get it moving.

They'd also like to change the rule of seniority under which committee chairmen get their jobs not through ability but through longevity, meaning: if a House member can stay on a committee long enough, until everyone ahead of him dies or retires or is defeated in an election, he becomes chairman.

There never has been a time when Gen. Eisenhower's expertise in military matters has been questioned. As military experts go, he stood at the top of the group. He had the victories to show for his competency and nothing else matters in military success. It's not how you win, but whether you win.

His comment that Franklin D. Roosevelt's edict of unconditional surrender at Casablanca in late January 1943 lengthened the war and fattened the casualty lists must be taken at face value. It is the considered opinion of one of the great military minds of the 20th century.

It reflects no credit by hindsight on the wisdom of President Roosevelt in 1943, though it reflects less discredit than will be imagined by people who have forgotten why it seemed necessary in 1943 to talk about total destruction of the Axis nations' power to wage war.

The terror that had been struck in Europe and Japan was a very real thing in the early years of World War II. No one wanted to take the chance of being on the losing side. France already had capitulated to the Axis.

The Allies needed to make it clear they were in no mood to settle for an accommodation with Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo. This was what Mr. Roosevelt was trying to do. He was trying to stiffen the backbone of the neutralists and the waverers.

Inadvertently, he gave the Axis leaders a talking point for last-ditch warfare, under the claim that the Germans had nothing to gain or even to hope for by giving up short of an all-out effort.

If it could be done over, it might be done better. But at the time it had to be done, it was done as well as anyone knew how to do it.

Gen. Eisenhower, himself, would have to concede that.

Meanwhile, Back At The Ranch

It is reassuring to know that while the rest of us are piling up personel debts in a year - end extravaganza, President Johnson will be whittling away on the federal budget at his Johnson City, Tex., ranch.

It is reported that budget requests have reached a total of more than $108 billion.

It is also reported that the President wants to keep the budget total under or close to $100 billion. This would represent an attitude of prudence.

He struck this attitude when he presided over his first budget deliberation last January. Instead of stunning the country with another annual increase in spending, he submitted a budget a shade under 198 billion and proposed a tax reduction.

The result is economic history.

The economy boomed. The theory that tax reduction could produce a revenue increase by stimulating the economy held up in practice.

They could see why the over-all federal budget had to be larger year by year to take care of a larger population and their government's growing responsibilities abroad and at home.

What concerned them was the rate at which federal spending had been accelerating — from $28 per capita per year in 1930, to $68 in 1940, to $262 in 1950, to $427 in 1960.

They needed proof that the federal government could control its spending; that its budget was not out of control.

The world needed proof that the United States could regulate its spending.

It is too soon to say that President Johnson will furnish the proof. But he has given every appearance of wanting to furnish it.

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: It seems silly to be writing you a letter when I will see you in person Christmas Eve.

But if I didn't write this letter in advance, all the people who read over your shoulder would think Christmas was too much for me. I do not want to leave that impression.

I can take Christmas in my stride 365 days a year and not twitch a whisker.

I do not mean the commercial part, because I would go broke. I am half-broke now.

I mean the spirit of Christmas. This part I could take like branch water.

All that holds me back is fear of being called a kook. Remember that fellow who used to give away money in New York City? No one gave him credit for perpetuating the spirit of Christmas. He was classified as an odd ball.

AS SOON as Christmas is over and celebrants of the Great Day snap back into their normal behavior patterns, I go back into my shell, too, and quit yammering about peace on earth and good will toward men.

I do not pretend to forgive people who have given me a hard time.

I do not go through the motions of loving mine enemies.

I keep my other cheek turned in the direction away from the blow that all but knocked me into the hereafter. I use survival tactics.

But let it be put down to my credit that I am willing to get back into the Christmas spirit on a minute's notice, wishing peace on earth and good will even to men who feel no good will toward me.

This is the way I would like to feel all the time.

I want to love my fellowmen — all of them, all colors, all creeds, all ideologies.

One Gift That Was Welcome

U.S. Unions Open War On Pro-Reds

By Victor Riesel

UNITED NATIONS

Recently a rather self-satisfied high government leader of Mali (West Africa) pleasantly and quietly told a foreign correspondent that "In five years all Africa will be pro- (Communist) Chinese and engaged on the road to socialism."

Victor Riesel

The quote, and lots more in similar grim vein, are amply backed by a long discussion which took place in Mali's barren capital city, Bamako.

This talk was held not too long after a Communist-controlled All-Africa Trade Union Federation had met there to plan the capture of organized labor in Africa. That was last June. They planned well. They are on the move. Their organizers, financed by the Sino-Soviet bloc, are all over the continent.

Democratic African union leaders, many of them now doubling as their nation's diplomatic envoys at the United Nations, have fought back. But with little money, no real headquarters, a lack of trained personnel and organizers and even a shortage of typewriters and duplicating machines, they—and therefore world freedom—are losing.

NOW IT CAN BE revealed that the African free labor men will be joined by a strong force in their counter offensive against the Sino-Soviet invasion.

American labor, led by blunt-speaking George Meany, AFL-CIO president, who wars on world Communism with tri-hammer impact and regularity, is launching an African-American Labor Center. Its headquarters is right opposite the U.N. building.

Its executive director is the peripatetic Irving Brown, one of the Americans most trusted by governments and rank-and-file alike in Africa. It was Brown, playing a "Scarlet Pimpernel" role in bombed-out post-war Europe, who helped the free unions fight off Stalinist attacks and survive in the late '40s.

Europe was then in rebirth. Africa today is also building on old societies. Labor leaders of yesterday are the heads of state and the cabinet members and envoys of today.

Labor movements of yesterday are the basic structure of functioning governments of today. If these labor unions are captured by the Sino-Soviet agents, the government will be captured, too, and therefore the continent.

IN THIS STRUGGLE the African-American Center is offering its skills and manpower and tools as weapons. Its collective hand is being extended in a series of letters now being mailed by Mr. Brown to 35 African unions and many governments in the former British and French colonies.

This three-page communication also makes the point that bread and jobs and security depend on capital investments.

"It also will encourage labor-management cooperation," Mr. Brown writes, "to expand American capital investment in African nations."

The communication says that Mr. Meany, president and chairman of the board of directors of the African-American Labor Center, pledges to interest many technicians be they labor, governmental or business.

The letter asks the African unions to furnish the Center with ideas, programs and plans in which the Center can participate. Meany and Brown and the board want this project to be a joint venture—not just an effort to hand down an alleged superior culture.

IN ADDITION to offering the African labor movement and their governments a hand in the new economic complex into which they are moving, the Center has a ground level program. One of its people, the charming Maida Springer, already has left for Nigeria, a sprawling West African nation of 55 million which needs an international communication and transportation system to weld the populace.

Mrs. Springer has gone to set up and supervise a motor drivers school. It will train Africans in skills needed to operate such vehicles and other equipment.

In turn, after the many tribesmen have been taught English, arithmetic, maintenance, and the full meaning of public regulations, these trainees will be able to obtain jobs by the thousands and form the basis of a strong transportation union.

Last year Mrs. Springer helped set up a sewing and tailoring training school in Nairobi, Kenya, the largest garment manufacturing center in Africa.

Thus it will be done, with vocational schools, clinics, housing projects, night and summer schools, and the loan of typewriters, mimeograph machines and American capital investment.

Men live by more than bread alone. But first must come the bread. That is the dedication of the men of the new Center.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO—The Triangle Club held its annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Ernest Clouse of Gaston Pl., with Mrs. J. H. Peake in charge of the program.

Beethoven's "Hallelujah Chorus", from the oratorio, "Mount of Olives", was presented at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church under the direction of Mrs. E. Ellsworth Giles, organist.

Mrs. George McGaffic was re-elected president of the Mary Martha Circle of the Boyce Methodist Church.

TEN YEARS AGO — The Rev. John B. Roberts of Luke's Episcopal Church at Georgetown was ordained at All Saints Church in Aliquippa.

Mrs. Mary Krafft was received as a new member of the Eight Niters Club.

Space Dust

The dust that interests the scientist comes from space, the National Geographic Society says. Several million tons drift down through the atmosphere each year and mix with dirt from terrestrial sources. Now and then, a housewife may sweep up a trace of space dust, not dreaming it came from the moon or beyond.

Moon dust may be sprayed toward the earth when a meteor smacks into a lunar mountain. The impact could be so great that some fragments escape the moon's gravity and eventually come to the earth. A ton or more of lunar dust may filter through the atmosphere each day.

As the earth orbits around the sun, it picks up countless other micrometeoroids — tiny bits of matter—that are left behind by passing comets or asteroids. The total accumulation since the earth's formation may amount to as much as 10 feet over its entire surface.

Political Facts Of Life

By David Lawrence

Some Of The Things That Win Votes

Most of the dialogue going on now among Republicans as to how to reshape their party seems to ignore the moods and desires of the American voter.

David Lawrence

A lot of talk is being heard, for example, about a positive program or platform, the assumption being that everything that's negative is bad. Yet the simple truth is that the American voter often wants to express his negative attitude in a more positive way than moderates or middle-of-the-roaders seem to realize. Likewise, a campaign that is confined to cliches and the language of the highbrow and the intellectual becomes neither positive nor negative but simply incomprehensible to the voter himself.

Elections are not won by complex proposals that spell out in positive or explicit terms the promises that are offered. Whatever pledges of a utopian nature are made in politics are usually in general and vague terms, such as the great society or the New Deal, which present an ideal rather than a program.

POLITICAL HISTORY shows that in campaigns affirmative issues are rarely emphasized. The strategy which seems always to be successful is to knock down the opposing party and paint its proposals as likely to bring human disaster or financial bankruptcy or a horrible war.

Conversely, a party in power resists such attacks by picturesque words that try to portray the other party as likely to bring depressions and other inconveniences and losses.

Out of every hundred voters, for instance, how many remember the 1964 campaign speeches of either party, and how many today can recall what positive proposals Lyndon Johnson made in the recent campaign?

How many more, on the other hand, recall the words "trigger-happy" or "reckless" or "dangerous" and the charge about "wrecking your Social Security"?

Personalities have something to do with the outcome of campaigns, but not always. Some of the most able men in America, running on an excellent platform and making good campaign speeches, have been defeated by opponents of mediocre quality and of lesser ability.

If the voters are in a mood of resentment, it doesn't matter to them how truthful the characterization of a candidate's merits may be.

ONE REASON for the mistakes of many politicians is that they really do not understand grass-roots sentiment. This is particularly true of political leaders who emerged from the so - called intellectual centers where the exponents of party philosophy vie with one another in expressing their respective ideologies.

The average man is interested in the retention of his job, in higher income, in better living conditions, in education for his children and in keeping out of war.

He isn't concerned over whether the candidate dresses well or has many college degrees or can make a good speech or has a glamorous personality. Seventy million voters today do not differ from the 40 or 50 million of a few decades ago.

Perhaps the best proof of the superfluous nature of the intellectual type of party campaigning is to be found in the casual way in which national platforms are treated. Few papers print them in full text. They are rarely heard of in the weeks after the party convention has adopted them. Occasionally one or two planks are emphasized in a political campaign, but by and large even the candidates for Congress, if suddenly quizzed, would hardly be able to remember exactly what was in their own party platform.

Under these circumstances, those who would reorganize the Republican party will be wasting time if they confine themselves to such words as "exclusionary" or "extremism" or "moderation" or even "positive" or "negative."

THEY WOULD be better advised to go to some book of simplified English for words to tell the voter that what they intend to do is to enable him to get higher wages, to make it possible for his dollar to buy more than ever before, to build more and better roads, to win the war against crime and render the city streets safe again, to provide tuition grants to educate all children in both public and private schools, to build an armament program that will require fewer and fewer soldiers and depend more and more on apparatus and to make sure that our defense is sufficient to deter any enemy and keep us out of war.

There are lots of platitudes which haven't been used in a long time, but in previous campaigns have been successful.

Above all, the program of a political party cannot resemble the thesis written to attain a master's degree in one of the Ivy League universities. It has to catch the eye and win the votes of men and women who are faced every day with the practical side of living and would like to be able to get a better income, a better dollar and a better community life.

Political Discontent

By James Marlow

In the wake of their election disaster, some Republican mourners are tormenting themselves over the new kind of life they want to lead.

If this seems melancholy just before the new year, Republicans don't have a monopoly on it. Some Democrats in Congress are unhappy with some of their elders.

All this gives a sense of motion, suggesting change. But political discontents come and go, like enthusiasm for Elvis Presley, and in the end nothing may change much.

Some Republicans want to chase Dean Burch off the field as chairman of the Republican National Committee. He won't budge. They've tackled him, but he's still on his feet.

This is a post-season search for a new head coach since Sen. Barry Goldwater, who was the Republican standard bearer, said it would be a vote of no confidence in him if Burch is thrown out. He had handpicked Burch as chairman.

This is being realistic since the issue is whether Goldwaterites are to remain in position to run the party and speak for it. But birching Burch isn't all that's troubling Republicans.

The man who wants his job — Michigan's Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., 51 — only five years ago helped Halleck get the leadership away from Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts who is now 80 and still in Congress.

Halleck, a conservative, has been criticized by some for what they called his "negativism" as a leader.

But if Ford should replace Halleck it wouldn't mean a change in ideology. Ford is a conservative, too, although he might give the Republicans a larger look of up-and-at-'em.

He was a football player, the athletic type. Halleck is roundish.

Meanwhile, liberal House Democrats, with their numbers swelled by the election to the point where they may outnumber the conservative Democrats, want to shake the House out of ways which seem fixed in cement — like the Washington Monument and just as unbudgetable.

For instance, they want to dilute the strength of the Rules Committee. Like all committees, it is composed of Democrats and Republicans. But this happens to be one of the most powerful and conservative on Capitol Hill.

It is sometimes one of the worst bottlenecks in the place because, under the House rules, it can keep a bill from going up to the floor to be voted on by the whole House.

The liberals want to make it easier to force this committee to act on legislation and get it moving.

They'd also like to change the rule of seniority under which committee chairmen get their jobs not through ability but through longevity, meaning: if a House member can stay on a committee long enough, until everyone ahead of him dies or retires or is defeated in an election, he becomes chairman.

Services, Communion Slated At St. Stephen's Episcopal

Festival services for Christmastide will feature four celebrations of Holy Communion at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church this week, the Rev. D. R. Salisbury Jr., rector, announced.

On Christmas Eve, the traditional carol service and choral Eucharist will begin at 10. The nave and sanctuary of the church will feature a different decorative motif this year of poinsettias, candles and evergreens. A new white dorsal will highlight the altar. The decorations have been arranged by John T. Eccleston, Charles Glover and Mrs. Ronald Mason.

Special Christmas Eve music with selections by Miss Eleanor Jane Bennett, church organist, will include Chorale prelude on "Sleepers Wake" (Bach), "Suite Noel" (Templeton), "Christmas Lullaby" (Voris), "Noel" (Guilmant) and "Christ the Lord To Us Is Born" (Van Horn).

St. Stephen's Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Mason, will present "What Is This Lovely Fragrance" (Willan), "Glory To God In the Highest" (Pergolesi) and "Break Forth Into Joy" (Stainer).

Mrs. W. H. Vodrey Jr., contralto, and Mrs. Mason, soprano, will sing, "Manger Carol" (duet—Caldwell).

The service will open with a congregational carol sing of familiar Christmas hymns. The Christmas sermon will be given by the rector.

Another celebration of Holy Communion and sermon will be held Christmas Day at 10:45 a. m.

Miss Bennett's organ selections will include "Oh, Rejoice, Ye Christians, Loudly" (Van Hulse), and "Improvisation on an Old French Carol" (Bedell).

On Saturday, the Feast of St. Stephen will be observed at 11:30 a.m., and Rev. Salisbury will celebrate Holy Communion in honor of the patron saint, for whom the local congregation is named. Following the service, college students of the parish will be Rev. Salisbury's guests at a luncheon at the Travelers Hotel.

The Feast of St. John, apostle and evangelist, will be celebrated Sunday by the choral Eucharsit and sermon at 10:45 a.m.

Election Board's Long Holiday To Set New Record

A 3½-day Christmas weekend will be routine for many public offices, but in the case of the County Election Board it will set a new record for modern times.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said today the W. 6th St. office will close at noon Thursday and not reopen until Monday morning, allowing the long holiday for him and two women clerical employes. He said it is by far the longest holiday he can remember for the office in his long association with the board.

The Election Board staff has a reputation for working on many days that are observed as holidays by other public offices, particularly Columbus Day and Veterans Day.

O'Hanlon pointed out the two fall holidays virtually never were observed in the past because the staff always was busy with voter registration rushes and other preparations for the November elections.

"We were entitled to those holidays, but we just weren't able to take them," he explained.

The New Year's weekend will not be as long as the Christmas closing. The board will be busy with preparations for a special election Jan. 5 in the Beaver Local School District.

Steel Demand To Rise In '65

cast continued high production and shipments for the company as a whole "through. at least, the first part of next year". He noted that hedge buying of Crucible's products was distinctly evident in alloy and carbon bars but much less so in other products.

Incoming orders for the past several months have been well above shipments, and the backlog of unfilled orders is quite substantial," Hunter said.

The company's sales for 1964 will be at another new high of more than $270 million compared to $253 million in 1963. Hunter said earnings for 1964 will top the $2.2 per common share of 1963 despite the fact a foreign operations loss of $1,000,000 will be abscribed in the accounts. Foreign units will be included in the consolidated statement for the first time.

The company expects several years of foreign losses to end in 1965. Hunter said the first quarter should show a small foreign profit, with a steady growth in such earnings to follow.

Crucible has maintained substantial steel exports from the United States even as it increased its steel melting abroad.

The foreign steel melting by Crucible represents about 50 per cent of what it sells in foreign countries.

It is unlikely that this will rise to 100 per cent, so that Midland might be expected to retain its exports. These may even increase as foreign demand grows.

Hunter held out the possibility of a stainless steel price increase next year, to reflect both economic conditions and past and pending employment cost increases. If such a price increase should occur, the long-term trend of lower stainless steel prices would be interrupted. Should the long-term trend of stainless prices continue to reflect competition of other materials, it was felt, the changes in stainless would not be as violent as they have been in the past two years.

cast continued high production and shipments for the company as a whole "through, at least, the first part of next year". He noted that hedge buying of Crucible's products was distinctly evident in alloy and carbon bars but much less so in other products.

Incoming orders for the past several months have been well above shipments, and the backlog of unfilled orders is quite substantial," Hunter said.

The company's sales for 1964 will be at another new high of more than $270 million compared to $253 million in 1963. Hunter said earnings for 1964 will top the $2.2 per common share of 1963 despite the fact a foreign operations loss of $1,000,000 will be abscribed in the accounts. Foreign units will be included in the consolidated statement for the first time.

The company expects several years of foreign losses to end in 1965. Hunter said the first quarter should show a small foreign profit, with a steady growth in such earnings to follow.

Crucible has maintained substantial steel exports from the United States even as it increased its steel melting abroad.

The foreign steel melting by Crucible represents about 50 per cent of what it sells in foreign countries.

It is unlikely that this will rise to 100 per cent, so that Midland might be expected to retain its exports. These may even increase as foreign demand grows.

Hunter held out the possibility of a stainless steel price increase next year, to reflect both economic conditions and past and pending employment cost increases. If such a price increase should occur, the long-term trend of lower stainless steel prices would be interrupted. Should the long-term trend of stainless prices continue to reflect competition of other materials, it was felt, the changes in stainless would not be as violent as they have been in the past two years.

Refuse Blaze Quelled In W. 6th St. Building

A booster line was used. The blaze was discovered by the police. The building is owned by Maurice Rapport.

The motor in a furnace overheated and caused smoke in an apartment owned by Grace Parsons at 471 Mulberry St. Tuesday at 5:58 p. m., firemen said.

LISBON — Firemen extinguished a stubborn fire in the walls of a fireplace at the home of D. W. Dickey of 26 Garfield St., Tuesday at 7:50 p. m., which caused an estimated $200 damage.

Dickey called firemen when he saw smoke coming out of bricks and the wall around the fireplace in a room.

The mercury hit 41 downtown at 7 a. m. and may go considerably higher today, remaining mild through Thursday with rain or showers tomorrow afternoon or night, probably changing to snow Friday or Friday night. And that's the best the Ohio weatherman could do today for the holiday snow outlook.

Inland Steel Hikes Price Of 2 Products

NEW YORK (AP) — Inland Steel Co. has raised the price of galvanized sheets and coils in what might prove the most significant steel industry price rise in more than a year.

In other companies followed suit, it would bring to 12 per cent the proportion of all steel mill products that have been marked up in the last three months.

U. S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Republic Steel Corp., the three largest producers, all said the Inland move was under study.

Inland's price, effective today, will be $150.50 a ton, up $6 a ton. Inland said adjustments relating to "extras," surcharges for special service, would make the increase average less than 3 per cent.

SANTA and the SINGING TURTLE

CHAPTER 17

Womp stood in disgrace with the Snowman's hat down over his face. He could not escape, for all the Fairyland folk surrounded him.

"Now," said Santa. "Perhaps you will tell us what is going on."

"I'll tell you!" cried George. And he told Santa how Womp had left the Prince in an enchanted circle in the forest east of Santa Land and how he had come to Fairyland to bewitch Santa and all the fairy folk with his flute playing.

"Why is this?" Santa asked Womp sternly. "What have I done to you?"

WOMP TRIED to blame it all on his master. "I am the servant of Kerchew, acting king of the Kingdom of Razenpie," he babbled in a muffled voice from inside the Snowman's hat. His nephew Prince Clad is to become the rightful king on Christmas Day. My master thought that if Christmas did not come to Razenpie, he would himself remain the king and I, of course, would remain his faithful servant."

Santa picked the man witch's flute from the floor. "So," he said, "you planned to play a magic tune on this flute that would put us all to sleep? Well, I, too, can play a magic tune and it will be just for you."

Santa put the flute to his mouth and played a tune never heard before. Strange, spine-prickling notes filled the air, and, indeed, they were magic, for when it was over Womp was a man witch no longer. He had been turned into a rubber doll!

"HE CAUSED harm," said Santa. "Now I shall put him in a child's Christmas stocking and he will cause pleasure for a change. When he is worn out and the child has thrown him away, I shall turn him back into himself and I think he will have learned to change his ways."

"Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas to all."

He turned to George and said, "Will you sing now for the Festival?"

"Oh, no! protested George reluctantly. "I must get to the Prince, for tomorrow is Christmas Day and his kingdom must be saved."

Santa smiled. "Sing first. Then we will go to the Prince."

So the turtle had his turn at last. He threw back his head and shut his eyes and sang from his heart. But, alas! He had suffered too much since the Festival began and his voice was out of sorts.

Nevertheless, when it was over, all the fairy creatures clapped and shouted "Bravo! and Santa said, "I would like for you to come to live with me and be my Singing Turtle."

This was even better than winning first prize at the Festival. George said, "Hurrah!" and the Snowman said, "Can I come, too?"

"Indeed you can," said Santa, "And there will be plenty of snow to make you whole again."

—:—

SANTA TOOK the turtle and the Snowman in his sleigh and flew to the forest east of Santa Land where they found the Prince imprisoned inside the circle Womp had drawn in the snow.

"Brush away the line," said Santa.

The Snowman hopped on his one foot and swept away the foot and swept away the line with his broom.

The Prince flew out of the circle and into Santa's arms crying, "Come to Razenpie! Oh, you must come to Razenpie with me!"

"I intend to," said Santa. "We'll go this very night, for it is Christmas Eve. We'll put wicked Kerchew off the throne and Razenpie will have you for its proper king!"

The Prince rushed to pick up his crown which had fallen in the snow. He put it on his head and cried, joyfully, "From now on every day will be Christmas Day in Razenpie!"

Then he and the turtle and the Snowman marched with Santa to Santa Land singing "Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas to all."

Womp stood in disgrace with the Snowman's hat down over his face. He could not escape, for all the Fairyland folk surrounded him.

"Now," said Santa. "Perhaps you will tell us what is going on."

"I'll tell you!" cried George. And he told Santa how Womp had left the Prince in an enchanted circle in the forest east of Santa Land and how he had come to Fairyland to bewitch Santa and all the fairy folk with his flute playing.

"Why is this?" Santa asked Womp sternly. "What have I done to you?"

WOMP TRIED to blame it all on his master. "I am the servant of Kerchew, acting king of the Kingdom of Razenpie," he babbled in a muffled voice from inside the Snowman's hat. His nephew Prince Clad is to become the rightful king on Christmas Day. My master thought that if Christmas did not come to Razenpie, he would himself remain the king and I, of course, would remain his faithful servant."

Santa picked the man witch's flute from the floor. "So," he said, "you planned to play a magic tune on this flute that would put us all to sleep? Well, I, too, can play a magic tune and it will be just for you."

Santa put the flute to his mouth and played a tune never heard before. Strange, spine-prickling notes filled the air, and, indeed, they were magic, for when it was over Womp was a man witch no longer. He had been turned into a rubber doll!

"HE CAUSED harm," said Santa. "Now I shall put him in a child's Christmas stocking and he will cause pleasure for a change. When he is worn out and the child has thrown him away, I shall turn him back into himself and I think he will have learned to change his ways."

"Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas to all."

He turned to George and said, "Will you sing now for the Festival?"

"Oh, no! protested George reluctantly. "I must get to the Prince, for tomorrow is Christmas Day and his kingdom must be saved."

Santa smiled. "Sing first. Then we will go to the Prince."

So the turtle had his turn at last. He threw back his head and shut his eyes and sang from his heart. But, alas! He had suffered too much since the Festival began and his voice was out of sorts.

Nevertheless, when it was over, all the fairy creatures clapped and shouted "Bravo! and Santa said, "I would like for you to come to live with me and be my Singing Turtle."

This was even better than winning first prize at the Festival. George said, "Hurrah!" and the Snowman said, "Can I come, too?"

"Indeed you can," said Santa, "And there will be plenty of snow to make you whole again."

—:—

SANTA TOOK the turtle and the Snowman in his sleigh and flew to the forest east of Santa Land where they found the Prince imprisoned inside the circle Womp had drawn in the snow.

"Brush away the line," said Santa.

The Snowman hopped on his one foot and swept away the foot and swept away the line with his broom.

The Prince flew out of the circle and into Santa's arms crying, "Come to Razenpie! Oh, you must come to Razenpie with me!"

"I intend to," said Santa. "We'll go this very night, for it is Christmas Eve. We'll put wicked Kerchew off the throne and Razenpie will have you for its proper king!"

The Prince rushed to pick up his crown which had fallen in the snow. He put it on his head and cried, joyfully, "From now on every day will be Christmas Day in Razenpie!"

Then he and the turtle and the Snowman marched with Santa to Santa Land singing "Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas to all."

Use Caution With Isometrics

A career girl asked hesitatingly, "Could isometric exercises possibly hurt my back? They seem to. At first I thought it was just my lazy muscles protesting. But the ache persists, particularly after a twisting motion. Could I harm myself with isometric exercises?"

Ida Jean Kain

Yes, you could. Unless your back is normally strong, it is a good rule to avoid any type of twisting motion. Just as much care should be taken with the choice of isometric exercises as with calisthenics.

The general rule for beginners is to start easily. Do not apply maximum effort in the beginning. For the first three or four weeks you should exert only about one - half of what you consider to be your maximum force. No one is a pro at the start.

ON THE twisting score: In the new leaflet "Isometric Exercises for Men and Women," I purposely omitted any form of a twist for with today's soft living bad backs are all too common and twisting is taboo.

Substitute an up - stretch and follow through with a sidebend. At the extension of the stretch . . .bend, and at the end of the bend. . .hold. Keep all movements smooth. For each contraction, hold the muscle tense no more than eight seconds.

A good rule is to use the first three or four seconds to build up to the degree of force that is right for you, then hold for four seconds. . .and release.

Pain indicates too much force. Ease up. If pain continues, stop that particular exercise, at least until you have built up more muscle strength.

Another question asked is whether isometric contraction exercises make a person more tense. No, for when you flex and contract a muscle tightly, relaxation of the muscle automatically follows.

ONE WIDELY known system of relaxing is to purposely tense and then relax the different muscle groups. One might question the advisability of tensing a muscle that is already too tense.

The idea is this, when you purposely tense a muscle, then suddenly release the tension. . . let arm or leg drop heavily. . . you are in control. On the contrary, when you are in the grip of tension it's like being in a vise. Muscles are held taut almost without your awareness.

The technique is to deliberately tense the muscles, then deliberately release the tension. This systm takes practice, but it is wonderfully effective.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Urban Renewal Administration announced Tuesday a $29,400 grant to the Dayton suburb of Kettering to help buy 29 acres for park purposes in the Prugh farm tract.

Health Service Predicts No Big Outbreak Of Flu

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service predicts the nation will escape any big flu outbreak this winter.

There have been only a few local concentrations of Asian or other types of influenza so far this year. There probably would have been many more if a major epidemic were imminent, the service noted.

The agency again recommended vaccinations, especially for those in "high-risk" groups —pregnant women, the elderly and those with heart trouble or other chronic diseases.

In response to questions, health service officials said all signs indicate no widespread epidemic will hit the country, although there is always the possibility of localized outbreaks.

MORE THAN A CHRISTMAS TREE

Made of stainless steel, the Christmas tree is an imaginative and creative cooperative effort of the people at Midland works and the students at Midland high school. The students fashioned the tree's bells, leaves and icicles from stainless steel produced by many of their fathers and relatives in the plant.

The result of their imagination and work has captured the attention and interest of all in the community.

The tree has beauty. It is unique in its creation, but it is more than a Christmas tree . . it is a symbol of the interdependence that exists between Crucible, its employes and the people of the community. It is symbolic of the bond between them, recognized and appreciated by all.

Through the tree, all three join together to wish everyone, everywhere a joyous Christmas and happiness in the new year.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing this letter in the hope that it will be read by my neighbor, the mother of a 2-year-old child.

The little girl weighs 60 pounds and wears size 14 panties. This summer that child, in her red-striped bathing suit, looked like a beach ball with legs.

I've watched the mother feed her and the mound of potatoes on the girl's plate looks like Mount Wilson. When she stops eating, the mother shovels in more food.

This is an unhappy youngster if I ever saw one. She cries over nothing and rarely smiles. She was a very slow walker—probably because she couldn't drag her fat body around.

I've hinted that the youngster should be taken to a doctor for a checkup but the mother laughs and says, "Lord love her, she's just chubby."

Will you comment, please?—CONCERNED.

Dear Concerned: In the old days a fat child was thought to be a healthy child. We know now that this is not necessarily true.

Every child, fat or thin, should be taken to a pediatrician for a checkup annually. Routine checkups have turned up diabetes, rheumatic heart disease and other illnesses which, when diagnosed early, are far less dangerous.

School Laggards

Dear Ann: Our 17-year-old cause he refuses to apply himself. He is one year behind in school but it doesn't bother him.

Lucy, the girl with whom Jack has been going steady for more than a year, is also a poor student. To listen to her talk you'd think she was in the sixth grade, although she is a high school senior.

My husband and I were praying that those two would break up before they got into trouble. Well, three weeks ago when Lucy thought she was pregnant Jack told us what had been going on. When it turned out she was not pregnant we thought the scare would teach them a lesson but it didn't. They are still together every evening.

Lucy's parents are brainless. The give her the family car when we won't give Jack our car. They give him money and invite him on trips. He doesn't even ask us, he just goes. These people are making a bum out of our son and we don't know what to do about it. Can you help?—G.H.I.

Dear G.H.I.: Why blame Lucy's parents for making a bum out of your son? They didn't raise him. You did.

Jack has been intimidating you and getting his own way for years. Now you must seek outside help. The first step is to get counseling for yourselves. Your counselor will take it from there.

And Curlers Yet?

Dear Ann: I can't believe it. I just can't believe it. Not YOU, Ann Landers!

When "Kansas Grandpaw" wrote and complained because his wife had a habit of appearing at the breakfast table wearing a housecoat over her nightgown—and asked if you approved—you said, "I not only approve of it, I DO it."

What does your husband think about having such a lazy wife?—MR. DAWN BUSTER.

Dear Buster: Yup. It's true. Li'l ol' me at the breakfast table in a housecoat over my nightgown. I asked my husband what he thought about it 25 years ago and he said, "Why should I object if you wear a housecoat over a nightgown when I'm sitting here in a bathrobe over my pajamas?"

P.S.: 312 columns a year. This is lazy?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

State Reveals Data On Link Of Highway

The State Highway Department at Columbus today revealed additional data on a 3.92-mile project stretching from Substation to Apples Corners that will form the third southern stage of the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway.

The new, limited access stretch of the lake - river road will consist of four 12-foot concrete lanes with eight-foot paved shoulders and 16-foot median dividers, the state said.

There will be an interchange with the junction of Route 7 and the state highway at that point will be rebuilt into two 12-foot concrete lanes with four-foot surface treated shoulders.

The project will include grade separations at the Route 30-7 interchange and with existing State Route 267, Township Rds. 295 and 126 and existing Route 30, the state said.

Major alterations to existing local roads will include a dead-end on Township Rd. 1000 north of Route 267. The contractor will be permitted to close Townships Rds. 925 and 926 to traffic for a period not to exceed 150 consecutive days. The state stipulated the roads must be closed alternately.

The new segment will tie into the first two sections of the lake - river road, which runs from W. 3rd and Monroe Sts. to a junction with Route 170 at Substation.

The state announced last fall it hoped to let a contract for the third segment early in 1965.

The Highway Department's Division 11 office at New Philadelphia said at that time that plans were 95 per cent complete. Of 55 right-of-way parcels involved, 48 had been appraised and 13 had been purchased.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing this letter in the hope that it will be read by my neighbor, the mother of a 2-year-old child.

The little girl weighs 60 pounds and wears size 14 panties. This summer that child, in her red-striped bathing suit, looked like a beach ball with legs.

I've watched the mother feed her and the mound of potatoes on the girl's plate looks like Mount Wilson. When she stops eating, the mother shovels in more food.

This is an unhappy youngster if I ever saw one. She cries over nothing and rarely smiles. She was a very slow walker—probably because she couldn't drag her fat body around.

I've hinted that the youngster should be taken to a doctor for a checkup but the mother laughs and says, "Lord love her, she's just chubby."

Will you comment, please?—CONCERNED.

Dear Concerned: In the old days a fat child was thought to be a healthy child. We know now that this is not necessarily true.

Every child, fat or thin, should be taken to a pediatrician for a checkup annually. Routine checkups have turned up diabetes, rheumatic heart disease and other illnesses which, when diagnosed early, are far less dangerous.

School Laggards

Dear Ann: Our 17-year-old cause he refuses to apply himself. He is one year behind in school but it doesn't bother him.

Lucy, the girl with whom Jack has been going steady for more than a year, is also a poor student. To listen to her talk you'd think she was in the sixth grade, although she is a high school senior.

My husband and I were praying that those two would break up before they got into trouble. Well, three weeks ago when Lucy thought she was pregnant Jack told us what had been going on. When it turned out she was not pregnant we thought the scare would teach them a lesson but it didn't. They are still together every evening.

Lucy's parents are brainless. The give her the family car when we won't give Jack our car. They give him money and invite him on trips. He doesn't even ask us, he just goes. These people are making a bum out of our son and we don't know what to do about it. Can you help?—G.H.I.

Dear G.H.I.: Why blame Lucy's parents for making a bum out of your son? They didn't raise him. You did.

Jack has been intimidating you and getting his own way for years. Now you must seek outside help. The first step is to get counseling for yourselves. Your counselor will take it from there.

And Curlers Yet?

Dear Ann: I can't believe it. I just can't believe it. Not YOU, Ann Landers!

When "Kansas Grandpaw" wrote and complained because his wife had a habit of appearing at the breakfast table wearing a housecoat over her nightgown—and asked if you approved—you said, "I not only approve of it, I DO it."

What does your husband think about having such a lazy wife?—MR. DAWN BUSTER.

Dear Buster: Yup. It's true. Li'l ol' me at the breakfast table in a housecoat over my nightgown. I asked my husband what he thought about it 25 years ago and he said, "Why should I object if you wear a housecoat over a nightgown when I'm sitting here in a bathrobe over my pajamas?"

P.S.: 312 columns a year. This is lazy?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Potters Work Overtime To Edge Massillon Five, 64-63

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Coach Frank Chan received a Christmas present from his team a few days early, but it took the Potters an extra three minutes to unwrap it Tuesday night.

The gift was a 64-63 overtime victory wrapped in orange and black, the colors of the Massillon Tigers, who lost the thriller before some 1,000 excited fans at Memorial Auditorium.

The win was the second in a row for East Liverpool which had dropped its first three starts, but has bounced back to defeat Wellsville and Massillon.

In defeating Massillon, the Potters registered their first victory in the Big 8 Conference. The Tigers will take a holiday break with a 1-3 record.

Following the game, Chan couldn't pick out any hero. He called it "a team effort." That's about what it was with each of the six players used by Chan adding some punch to the victory at one time or another.

The two teams battled to a 61-61 tie at the end of regulation time in a game that was even in about every department.

During regulation time, Dave Sheegog, the junior quarterback who led Massillon to its great grid victory over Canton McKinley, put the Tigers in front 61-59 with 1:27 remaining in the game on a jump shot from out front.

The Potters lost the ball, but got it back when a Massillon player stepped on the out of bounds line. Only 43 seconds remained when the Potters took over. After two unsuccessful attempts, senior Frank Taylor proved the man of the hour when he jumped high for a tip-in to tie the score at 61-61 with 30 seconds left on the clock.

A last ditch shot by John Mulbach hit the front of the rim and the teams went into overtime.

The Potters drew first blood in the overtime session as Taylor converted one of two fouls with 1:11 remaining of the three minute period for a 62-61 edge.

With 32 seconds left, Bob Maltarich dropped in a field goal to boost the Potters lead to 64-61.

Only 16 seconds showed when Sheegog dropped in a fielder, cutting the lead to 64-63.

The Potters received a chance to put the game out of reach with six seconds to go.

Ben Springer, the Potters 6-5 center, had been fouled by Muhlbach, who was ejected from the game for a flagrant violation as he shoved Springer to the floor. Springer received a two-shot foul but missed both attempts.

A jump ball was called with five seconds remaining and Massillon took control. Sheegog got one more shot away, but the ball was short of its mark as the final buzzer sounded.

The even contest showed both teams with 27 field goals, but the Potters made 10 of 18 fouls while Massillon converted 9 of 17. East Liverpool shot almost 37 per cent on 27 of 73 while Massillon fired 33 per cent, connecting on 27 of 80.

Massillon gained a 21-15 lead at the end of the first quarter, but the Potters bounced back to edge in front, 34-33, at halftime. The two clubs battled to a 50-50 tie as the third quarter closed.

Not more than four points separated the two teams in the second half when the score was tied on four occasions.

The shooting of Terry Lawrence for the second straight game and the continued improved play of Springer proved important to the Potters Tuesday night.

Lawrence, who scored 22 points in the Wellsville game Saturday, came right back with a 21-point performance last night, scoring all of his markers in the first three quarters. He ran into foul trouble late in the third period and sat out most of the fourth frame. Lawrence canned 9 of his 17 shots.

Springer, who looked stronger off the backboards than in his past two games, dropped in 16 points in working well out of the pivot. Springer fired 19 times and made 7.

Clutch scoring was turned in by Maltarich who made 4 of 5 shots, including the important goal in the overtime period. He wound up with 9 points.

Taylor added six to the attack, all coming in the fourth quarter and overtime period while Joe Massey and Ron Kinsey scored six timely points each.

The Potters' big weakness against the Tigers came in the rebounding department, especially off the defensive board where Massillon was serving extra attempts to score.

The scoring and rebounding of Rick Paige, a 6-3 junior, kept Massillon in the running throughout the contest.

Without Paige the Tigers would never have been in the game. He finished with 25 points on 12 field goals and a foul and did yoeman service in the rebounding department.

Muhlbach, who hit from outside occasionally, picked up 13 points for the evening.

New Standout For Bruins

Goodrich Stars In UCLA's Sixth Straight Floor Win

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The UCLA basketball Bruins are off on another winning streak and no one knows where this one will end.

Coach Johnny Wooden's boys were unbeaten in 30 games last year in their march to the national collegiate championship. They opened this season with a road defeat to Illinois, but since then have racked up six straight victories.

Their latest was a 84-75 conquest of Southern California at Los Angeles Tuesday night. And just as he did in previous triumphs over Indiana State, Arizona State, Oklahoma State, Marquette and Boston College, southpaw Gail Goodrich spearheaded the attack.

Overshadowed by All-America Walt Hazzard a year ago, Goodrich has taken the center of the stage with Hazzard's graduation. His brilliant passing and shooting doomed the Trojans. He finished with 28 points, including three straight field goals that broke open the game in the first half.

The victory of the fourth-ranked Bruins highlighted the pre-holiday national card. Third-ranked Minnesota ninth-ranked St. Louis downed Kentucky 80-75 and 10th-ranked Davidson beat Virginia 86-74 in other games involving teams in the Associated Press top ten.

Playing at home, Minnesota had an easy time winning its sixth straight against the Ramblers from Chicago. Mel Northway and Archie Clark each scored 19 points for the Gophers.

A jump shot by sophomore Bob Cole broke a 63-63 tie and put St. Louis ahead for good as the Billikens, enjoying the home court advantage, beat Kentucky for the fifth time in six years.

Fred Hetzel's 27 points led Davidson to its victory over Virginia at Charlotte. Don Davidson and Dick Snyder added 22 and 16, respectively.

Vanderbilt knocked Miami of Ohio from the unbeaten ranks with a come-from-behind 74-68 victory at Nashville. A 16-0 spurt, led by Roger Schurig's five field goals, erased an 11-point Miami lead. Over-all, 6-foot-9 Clyde Lee paced the Commodores with 25 points.

Vanderbilt Rally Trips Miami Five

By The Associated Press

Vanderbilt's classy Commodores rallied for a tremendous late scoring surge to overcome an 11-point deficit and drop Miami of Ohio, 74-68, in a non-loop basketball contest at Nashville Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, Ohio State was suffering a humiliating 112 - 71 loss at the hands of Brigham Young on the Cougars' home court in Provo, Utah.

Previously undefeated Miami was no match for Vanderbilt. After the Commodores had fallen 11 points behind during the first 15 minutes of play, senior guard Roger Schurig came off the bench to lead a dazzling rally in which Vanderbilt outscored Miami 16-0 to take a 5-point lead by halftime.

Clyde Lee, 6-9 junior center, topped Vanderbilt scoring with 25 points and also tied a school record by grabbing 26 rebounds. High scorer for the Redskins was Charley Coles with 18 points.

The loss was Miami's first in seven encounters. Vanderbilt now is 7-2.

Brigham Young gained an early lead and never fell behind in their romp over the Buckeyes. The Cougars' fast pace and sticky defense kept Ohio State offstride and outside most of the game.

In the only other games involving Ohio teams Tuesday night, Akron and Westminster won their contests in the Rubber City Classic at Akron and will meet tonight for the championship.

Potters Work Overtime To Edge Massillon Five, 64-63

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Coach Frank Chan received a Christmas present from his team a few days early, but it took the Potters an extra three minutes to unwrap it Tuesday night.

The gift was a 64-63 overtime victory wrapped in orange and black, the colors of the Massillon Tigers, who lost the thriller before some 1,000 excited fans at Memorial Auditorium.

The win was the second in a row for East Liverpool which had dropped its first three starts, but has bounced back to defeat Wellsville and Massillon.

In defeating Massillon, the Potters registered their first victory in the Big 8 Conference. The Tigers will take a holiday break with a 1-3 record.

Following the game, Chan couldn't pick out any hero. He called it "a team effort." That's about what it was with each of the six players used by Chan adding some punch to the victory at one time or another.

The two teams battled to a 61-61 tie at the end of regulation time in a game that was even in about every department.

During regulation time, Dave Sheegog, the junior quarterback who led Massillon to its great grid victory over Canton McKinley, put the Tigers in front 61-59 with 1:27 remaining in the game on a jump shot from out front.

The Potters lost the ball, but got it back when a Massillon player stepped on the out of bounds line. Only 43 seconds remained when the Potters took over. After two unsuccessful attempts, senior Frank Taylor proved the man of the hour when he jumped high for a tip-in to tie the score at 61-61 with 30 seconds left on the clock.

A last ditch shot by John Mulbach hit the front of the rim and the teams went into overtime.

The Potters drew first blood in the overtime session as Taylor converted one of two fouls with 1:11 remaining of the three minute period for a 62-61 edge.

With 32 seconds left, Bob Maltarich dropped in a field goal to boost the Potters lead to 64-61.

Only 16 seconds showed when Sheegog dropped in a fielder, cutting the lead to 64-63.

Ben Springer, the Potters 6-5 center, had been fouled by Muhlbach, who was ejected from the game for a flagrant violation as he shoved Springer to the floor. Springer received a two-shot foul but missed both attempts.

A jump ball was called with five seconds remaining and Massillon took control. Sheegog got one more shot away, but the ball was short of its mark as the final buzzer sounded.

The even contest showed both teams with 27 field goals, but the Potters made 10 of 18 fouls while Massillon converted 9 of 17. East Liverpool shot almost 37 per cent on 27 of 73 while Massillon fired 33 per cent, connecting on 27 of 80.

Massillon gained a 21-15 lead at the end of the first quarter, but the Potters bounced back to edge in front, 34-33, at halftime. The two clubs battled to a 50-50 tie as the third quarter closed.

Not more than four points separated the two teams in the second half when the score was tied on four occasions.

Lawrence, who scored 22 points in the Wellsville game Saturday, came right back with a 21-point performance last night, scoring all of his markers in the first three quarters. He ran into foul trouble late in the third period and sat out most of the fourth frame. Lawrence canned 9 of his 17 shots.

Springer, who looked stronger off the backboards than in his past two games, dropped in 16 points in working well out of the pivot. Springer fired 19 times and made 7.

Clutch scoring was turned in by Maltarich who made 4 of 5 shots, including the important goal in the overtime period. He wound up with 9 points.

Taylor added six to the attack, all coming in the fourth quarter and overtime period while Joe Massey and Ron Kinsey scored six timely points each.

The Potters' big weakness against the Tigers came in the rebounding department, especially off the defensive board where Massillon was serving extra attempts to score.

The scoring and rebounding of Rick Paige, a 6-3 junior, kept Massillon in the running throughout the contest.

Without Paige the Tigers would never have been in the game. He finished with 25 points on 12 field goals and a foul and did yeoman service in the rebounding department.

Muhlbach, who hit from outside occasionally, picked up 13 points for the evening.

The victory was the 52nd in a row on the Midland court and the seventh straight of the season for Coach Hank Kuzma's Leopards.

AFTER marching to a 19-10 first period lead, the Leopards opened the gap in the second quarter by scoring 16 straight points to push the score to 35-10 before the visitors scored again.

The "Big 3" of Simmy Hill, Ron Brown and Norman VanLier accounted for 55 points before Kuzma replaced them in the third quarter. Hill again led the way hitting around his average for 20 points while Brown added 18 and VanLier 17.

THE LEOPARDS turned in another good night in the shooting department connecting on 40 of 78 for 51 per cent. Coraopolis turned in 18 goals out of 63 for 29 per cent.

A jump shot by sophomore Bob Cole broke a 63-63 tie and put St. Louis ahead for good as the Billikens, enjoying the home court advantage, beat Kentucky for the fifth time in six years.

Fred Hetzel's 27 points led Davidson to its victory over Virginia at Charlotte. Don Davidson and Dick Snyder added 22 and 16, respectively.

Vanderbilt knocked Miami of Ohio from the unbeaten ranks with a come-from-behind 74-68 victory at Nashville. A 16-0 spurt, led by Roger Schurig's five field goals, erased an 11-point Miami lead. Over-all, 6-foot-9 Clyde Lee paced the Commodores with 25 points.

Vanderbilt Rally Trips Miami Five

By The Associated Press

Vanderbilt's classy Commodores rallied for a tremendous late scoring surge to overcome an 11-point deficit and drop Miami of Ohio, 74-68, in a non-loop basketball contest at Nashville Tuesday night.

Previously undefeated Miami was no match for Vanderbilt. After the Commodores had fallen 11 points behind during the first 15 minutes of play, senior guard Roger Schurig came off the bench to lead a dazzling rally in which Vanderbilt outscored Miami 16-0 to take a 5-point lead by halftime.

Clyde Lee, 6-9 junior center, topped Vanderbilt scoring with 25 points and also tied a school record by grabbing 26 rebounds. High scorer for the Redskins was Charley Coles with 18 points.

The loss was Miami's first in seven encounters. Vanderbilt now is 7-2.

Brigham Young gained an early lead and never fell behind in their romp over the Buckeyes. The Cougars' fast pace and sticky defense kept Ohio State offstride and outside most of the game.

In the only other games involving Ohio teams Tuesday night, Akron and Westminister won their contests in the Rubber City Classic at Akron and will meet tonight for the championship.

'If Browns Run At Colts'

Redskins' Coach Thinks Cleveland Will Make Title Game Interesting

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Washington's Bill McPeak, one of the NFL coaches who met both Baltimore and Cleveland in the regular season, thinks the Browns will run at the Colts Sunday and make things interesting in the title game.

"Cleveland's Jim Brown keeps them in the ball game," said McPeak in Washington. "He really can do the job. I think you have to run at Baltimore, but you need two to do that. Ernie Green is a vastly underrated back. It could be very interesting."

However, McPeak also sees perils for the Browns if they try to pass against the Colts' front four.

"Baltimore likes to turn loose that front four," said McPeak. "They turn them loose and often drop the linebackers and play zone, like Cleveland. It's tough to pass against them except for screen and what we call delay flares."

Cleveland beat Washington twice, 27-13 and 34-24, during the National Football League season. Baltimore thumped the Redskins 45-17 in the final game.

"We played Cleveland twice when we were at full strength," said McPeak. "In the first game we outplayed them except for fumbles. In the second game we played our poorest defensive game of the year. Sonny Jurgenson got hot in the second half and passed for something like 240 yards.

"Against Baltimore we were minus two regular secondary men — Lonnie Sanders and Jim Steffen. Then we lost Charley Taylor in the third quarter. Until we lost Taylor we were giving them all they could handle. But when they finally broke loose we haven't seen an avalanche like that all year."

McPeak said Baltimore red dogs about 20 to 25 times a game compared to Cleveland's more conservative eight or 10 times. Both did a good job of pass blocking.

"Jim Brown is in a class by himself," said McPeak. "So is John Unitas. Paul Warfield and Gary Collins have come on to match Baltimore's receivers. It should be a real good ball game."

Clay-Liston Fight Is Set For June Date

NEW YORK (AP) — There may be another heavyweight champion crowned by the time Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston meet in their once-postponed, return title fight in June at Boston.

"The exact date hasn't been set yet but it will be in June," said Angelo Dundee, trainer and manager of Clay. "Cassius is feeling fine and rarin' to go."

There had been a Boston report that the Clay-Liston fight would be held on April 19 but Dundee said Tuesday "that's too soon."

The return fight had been scheduled for Nov. 16 but was postponed on Nov. 13 when Clay had to have an emergency hernia operation.

The World Boxing Association, which stripped Clay of recognition because he signed for the return fight with Liston, hopes to have a new champion well before June.

It has decreed that the winner of the Ernie Terrell-Eddie Machen bout will be the WBA's champion. The WBA also said the winner must fight the victor of the 12-round bout between former champion Floyd Patterson of New York and George Chuvalo of Toronto at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Driver Cited In Glenmoor Area Wreck

A two - car crash at Glenmoor and a hit-skip collision on the Chester Bridge Tuesday night were among four district mishaps investigated yesterday by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Charles Riffle, 36, of 403 5th St., Wellsville, was cited after his car and one operated by John W. Ross, 42, of Walker Rd. collided at the intersection of Route 267 and the Y. & O. Rd. at 10 p. m.

Riffle was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

George Turek, 37, of Struthers told officers a 1957 sedan sideswiped his 1964 sedan on the Chester Bridge at 10:55 p. m., causing moderate damage to his car. Turek, headed west, said the eastbound auto failed to halt. It was damaged on the left front bumper, he added.

Robert Vernon Bontempt, 19, of Berkshire Rd. was cited after his 1961 coupe rammed the rear of a halted 1964 sedan driven by Basil Rollins, 59, of Lisbon R. D. 2 on the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd. at 4:30 p. m.

The patrol said Rollins had halted because of another vehicle partially in a ditch. Bontempt was charged with failure to halt in the assured clear distance.

Louise McCoy Cox, 25, of Rogers R.D. 1 escaped injury when her car sideswiped a pickup truck on Route 165 about a mile south of the Mahoning County line at 3:40 p. m.

The patrol said the driver of the truck — John Stasko, 61, of New Springfield R. D. 1 — was treated at a Youngstown hospital for a neck injury.

Light 'Sticks' On Red, Brings Traffic Jam

The traffic signal on W. 6th St. at Jackson St. switched to red this morning about 7:30— and just stayed that way.

The line of waiting motorists knew something was wrong, but no one ventured to proceed. A police cruiser was the first car in line at the signal.

Patrolman J. A. Walsh alighted from the police car and waved the motorists through the signal. Officers remained at the scene to direct traffic while the Sayre Electric Co., which maintains the signals, was notified to send a worker. A stuck control was blamed.

Pleas Court Takes Swipe At Credit Card

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has taken a swipe at the credit card.

The court at New Orleans said credit cards have value only to the company, as a device for making invoices, and cannot be classed as a security.

The court overthrew the conviction of a Jacksonville man who is serving four years for interstate transportation of a stolen credit card.

4,000 From Israel Crossing Into Jordan

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — Four thousand Christians from Israel, most of them Arabs, are crossing into Jordan for Christmas celebrations, an Israeli spokesman said today.

Bethlehem is in Jordan. Israel's Christmas festivities center at Nazareth. About 3,000 Christian pilgrims from abroad are going in the Israeli celebration.

Citation Given Another Milk Truck Driver

Another dairy delivery truck driver was cited Tuesday by Gene J. Smith, Health Board sanitary officer, on a charge he lacked a so-called service inspection permit required by the City Code.

He is the third dairy driver to be cited on the charge in a little more than a month.

Charges were filed earlier by Smith against William Bess of Mingo Junction and Charles Watson of Lisbon St. Ext.

Bess also is scheduled for a hearing Tuesday. No date ever has been set for a hearing for Watson.

Taylor allegedly is an employe of the Cloverdale Dairy at Weirton which distributes Packet brand milk. Bess is an employe of the same concern, while Watson is a deliveryman for Sealtest Dairy products.

However, the drivers were cited as individuals. The firms were not named in the affidavits signed by the sanitary officer.

The first arrests came on Nov. 20 after the Health Board ordered Smith to enforce the code inspection permits.

The charges allege that the three men "did offer for sale and delivery milk and milk products in the City of East Liverpool without first obtaining a service inspection permit as required by Section 38 of the City Code, as amended."

Fall Injures Area Woman

A Chester woman injured in a fall and a Wellsville child who received an eye injury on a coat hanger were among five area residents treated at City Hospital Tuesday.

Lester Russell, 4, son of Lester Russell, 1609 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, received a puncture wound of the right cornea on a coat hanger.

Richard Harmon, 18, of 212 E. 3rd St. received an ankle injury when he twisted it walking down an embankment.

Indiana's Dickens Joins Jobless Coaching Circle

By The Associated Press

Phil Dickens, whose seven-year tenure at Indiana failed to lift the Hoosier out of the Big Ten doldrums, has joined Wayne Hardin, Bill Barnes and John Stiegman among the major coaching casualties of the 1964 college football season.

Dickens, who learned his football at Tennessee under the late Gen. Robert Neyland and took over at Indiana in 1958, resigned his $17,500-a-year post Tuesday and accepted a job as general manager of Hoosier off-campus activities.

His departure left four 1965 vacancies among major college teams. Navy, UCLA and Pennsylvania also are seeking new coaches. Hardin quit as the Middies' boss after failing to land an assistant athletic directorship at the Naval Academy. Barnes, anticipating the ax at UCLA, bowed out before the Bruins' athletic board could fire him. Stiegman was sacked after a series of losing seasons at Penn.

The four schools have indicated there will be no hirings until the National Collegiate Athletic Association meets next month in Chicago.

More than a dozen other changes have been made since the end of the regular season. Hank Foldberg of Texas A&M and Doyt Perry of Bowling Green stepped out to devote full time as athletic directors. Gene Stallings, a Bear Bryant aide at Alabama last season, replaced Foldberg and Bob Gibson took over for Perry.

Davidson is looking for a successor to Bill Dole. Lehigh, Dayton and Bowdoin are among the other schools with openings.

Knicks Upset Frisco Five

By The Associated Press

The New York Knickerbockers, whose victories come few and far between, have come up with a simple formula for success. All they have to do to win in the National Basketball Association is to hit on 50 per cent of their shots and display scoring balance.

The Knicks parlayed those ingredients, offset the ominous presence of Wilt Chamberlain and went on to upend the San Francisco Warriors 124-118 in Sacramento, Calif., Tuesday night.

The game between the tailend teams of the Eastern and Western divisions was the only one scheduled. It drew a crowd of 2,654 at the Sacramento High School Pavillion.

New York, in gaining only its ninth triumph in 32 starts, connected on 56 of 110 field-goal attempts for a 50.9 per cent average. Seven Knicks hit double scoring figures, led by rookie Willis Reed's 25 points.

Westgaters Rip Midland Five, 61-31

Fourteen players hit the scoring column as Westgate coasted to its seventh straight victory, a 61-31, rout of Midland Tuesday on the Westgate gym.

After leading 13-6 at the first quarter mark, Coach Pick Rolley's team increased the advantage to 32-12 at halftime and was on top 53-19 at the third quarter mark.

Mike McVay's 14 points led the long list of Westgate scorers. VanLier dropped in nine points for the visitors.

Taylor Gets Grid Post Of Houston Club

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers have rearranged the chain of command among their coaches, with Hugh (Bones) Taylor emerging as field manager.

He replaces Sammy Baugh, head coach until he decided last week the job took up too much of his ranching time.

Baugh will stay on as backfield coach and former Oiler head coach Lou Rymkus is expected to be named as an assistant.

The Oilers thus would set a record for former head coaches on one staff, since Rymkus was the first head coach of the American Football League team in 1960, until he was fired. Taylor is the fifth Oiler head coach since 1960.

Taylor, a native of Wynne, Ark., was Baugh's favorite receiver in eight years with the Washington Redskins. The former end was called as an assistant when Baugh took over the New York Titans and again when he took over the Oilers last summer.

Baugh said behind-the-desk duties of the head coaching position kept him away from his West Texas ranch too much and were the cause of his giving up a contract which had a year to run.

Collier Awarded 3-Year Contract

CLEVELAND (AP) — Blanton Collier, the soft-spoken Kentucky gentleman in his second year as Cleveland Browns' coach, has been signed to a new three-year contract, Art Modell, club president, announced today.

The salary was not disclosed.

"I am delighted with the masterful job Blanton has done for us since taking over as head coach two years ago," Modell said. "His record of 20 wins, seven losses and one tie . . . in the toughest football league in the world is better than that of any of his contemporaries in the past two seasons."

Collier, 58, was signed to a three-year contract early in 1963 when Modell fired Paul Brown as head coach. The Browns' 7-6-1 record in 1962 was the second worst in the club's history, including four years (1946-1949) in the old All-American Conference. The new contract will run through 1967.

"I am most grateful for Art Modell's confidence in me and my staff," said Collier. "I sincerely hope that we can justify his confidence in us, because he is deserving of the very best.

"Frankly, my thoughts have been more upon the championship game than upon what was going to happen to me."

The Browns finished with a 10-4 record last season under Collier, second in the Eastern Division to the New York Giants. This year they won the division title with a 10-3-1 record.

Coach Cecil Allison's Western Beaver Junior Hi team pulled out their second win in three starts Tuesday afternoon at the Western Beaver floor at Industry 43-39, after being down 15-10 at halftime against a strong Baden-Economy five.

Joe Druzak of Western, paced the victory, tallying 19 of his teams points, and pulling down 10 rebounds.

Mike Lacey chipped in with eight markers in the western victory, while Stan Kamzclski was high for the visitors with 17.

The score was knotted at 39-39 with 16 seconds to go, when John Petchel pumped in a one-hander from the corner moving the score to 41-39. A few seconds later Lacey dropped in both ends of a one-and-one foul call, to put the game on ice.

Western's only loss of the season was to a strong Beaver squad. The team will return to action following the holidays, when they enter into league competition.

Firemen Trace Odor To Sewer Cleaner

A compound being used by the city to clean detergents from the main sewer line was found to be the source of an odor in the home of two Wellsville homes Tuesday afternoon.

Firemen were called at 4:55 p. m. to check the odor at the home of Robert Hall, 1604 Commerce St., and Leonard DeFalco, 1608 Commerce.

The Ohio Valley Gas Co. crew checked the homes and determined no natural gas was involved.

It was then determined that the odor was from the compound being used to clean out the sewers. It is harmless, but has a peculiar odor, city officials reported.

Driver Cited In Glenmoor Area Wreck

A two - car crash at Glenmoor and a hit-skip collision on the Chester Bridge Tuesday night were among four district mishaps investigated yesterday by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Charles Riffle, 36, of 403 5th St., Wellsville, was cited after his car and one operated by John W. Ross, 42, of Walker Rd. collided at the intersection of Route 267 and the Y. & O. Rd. at 10 p. m.

Riffle was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

George Turek, 37, of Struthers told officers a 1957 sedan sideswiped his 1964 sedan on the Chester Bridge at 10:55 p. m., causing moderate damage to his car. Turek, headed west, said the eastbound auto failed to halt. It was damaged on the left front bumper, he added.

Robert Vernon Bontempt, 19, of Berkshire Rd. was cited after his 1961 coupe rammed the rear of a halted 1964 sedan driven by Basil Rollins, 59, of Lisbon R. D. 2 on the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd. at 4:30 p. m.

The patrol said Rollins had halted because of another vehicle partially in a ditch. Bontempt was charged with failure to halt in the assured clear distance.

Louise McCoy Cox, 25, of Rogers R.D. 1 escaped injury when her car sideswiped a pickup truck on Route 165 about a mile south of the Mahoning County line at 3:40 p. m.

The patrol said the driver of the truck — John Stasko, 61, of New Springfield R. D. 1 — was treated at a Youngstown hospital for a neck injury.

Citation Given Another Milk Truck Driver

Another dairy delivery truck driver was cited Tuesday by Gene J. Smith, Health Board sanitary officer, on a charge he lacked a so-called service inspection permit required by the City Code.

He is the third dairy driver to be cited on the charge in a little more than a month.

Charges were filed earlier by Smith against William Bess of Mingo Junction and Charles Watson of Lisbon St. Ext.

Bess also is scheduled for a hearing Tuesday. No date ever has been set for a hearing for Watson.

Taylor allegedly is an employe of the Cloverdale Dairy at Weirton which distributes Packet brand milk. Bess is an employe of the same concern, while Watson is a deliveryman for Sealtest Dairy products.

However, the drivers were cited as individuals. The firms were not named in the affidavits signed by the sanitary officer.

The first arrests came on Nov. 20 after the Health Board ordered Smith to enforce the code inspection permits.

The charges allege that the three men "did offer for sale and delivery milk and milk products in the City of East Liverpool without first obtaining a service inspection permit as required by Section 38 of the City Code, as amended."

Indiana's Dickens Joins Jobless Coaching Circle

By The Associated Press

Phil Dickens, whose seven-year tenure at Indiana failed to lift the Hoosier out of the Big Ten doldrums, has joined Wayne Hardin, Bill Barnes and John Stiegman among the major coaching casualties of the 1964 college football season.

Dickens, who learned his football at Tennessee under the late Gen. Robert Neyland and took over at Indiana in 1958, resigned his $17,500-a-year post Tuesday and accepted a job as general manager of Hoosier off-campus activities.

His departure left four 1965 vacancies among major college teams. Navy, UCLA and Pennsylvania also are seeking new coaches. Hardin quit as the Middies' boss after failing to land an assistant athletic directorship at the Naval Academy. Barnes, anticipating the ax at UCLA, bowed out before the Bruins' athletic board could fire him. Stiegman was sacked after a series of losing seasons at Penn.

The four schools have indicated there will be no hirings until the National Collegiate Athletic Association meets next month in Chicago.

More than a dozen other changes have been made since the end of the regular season. Hank Foldberg of Texas A&M and Doyt Perry of Bowling Green stepped out to devote full time as athletic directors. Gene Stallings, a Bear Bryant aide at Alabama last season, replaced Foldberg and Bob Gibson took over for Perry.

Davidson is looking for a successor to Bill Dole. Lehigh, Dayton and Bowdoin are among the other schools with openings.

Knicks Upset Frisco Five

By The Associated Press

The New York Knickerbockers, whose victories come few and far between, have come up with a simple formula for success. All they have to do to win in the National Basketball Association is to hit on 50 per cent of their shots and display scoring balance.

The Knicks parlayed those ingredients, offset the ominous presence of Wilt Chamberlain and went on to upend the San Francisco Warriors 124-118 in Sacramento, Calif., Tuesday night.

The game between the tailend teams of the Eastern and Western divisions was the only one scheduled. It drew a crowd of 2,654 at the Sacramento High School Pavillion.

New York, in gaining only its ninth triumph in 32 starts, connected on 56 of 110 field-goal attempts for a 50.9 per cent average. Seven Knicks hit double scoring figures, led by rookie Willis Reed's 25 points.

Westgaters Rip Midland Five, 61-31

Fourteen players hit the scoring column as Westgate coasted to its seventh straight victory, a 61-31, rout of Midland Tuesday on the Westgate gym.

After leading 13-6 at the first quarter mark, Coach Pick Rolley's team increased the advantage to 32-12 at halftime and was on top 53-19 at the third quarter mark.

Mike McVay's 14 points led the long list of Westgate scorers. VanLier dropped in nine points for the visitors.

Western Beaver Juniors Rally To Win 43-39 Tilt

Coach Cecil Allison's Western Beaver Junior Hi team pulled out their second win in three starts Tuesday afternoon at the Western Beaver floor at Industry 43-39, after being down 15-10 at halftime against a strong Baden-Economy five.

Joe Druzak of Western, paced the victory, tallying 19 of his teams points, and pulling down 10 rebounds.

Mike Lacey chipped in with eight markers in the western victory, while Stan Kamzclski was high for the visitors with 17.

The score was knotted at 39-39 with 16 seconds to go, when John Petchel pumped in a one-hander from the corner moving the score to 41-39. A few seconds later Lacey dropped in both ends of a one-and-one foul call, to put the game on ice.

Western's only loss of the season was to a strong Beaver squad. The team will return to action following the holidays, when they enter into league competition.

Taylor Gets Grid Post Of Houston Club

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers have rearranged the chain of command among their coaches, with Hugh (Bones) Taylor emerging as field manager.

He replaces Sammy Baugh, head coach until he decided last week the job took up too much of his ranching time.

Baugh will stay on as backfield coach and former Oiler head coach Lou Rymkus is expected to be named as an assistant.

The Oilers thus would set a record for former head coaches on one staff, since Rymkus was the first head coach of the American Football League team in 1960, until he was fired. Taylor is the fifth Oiler head coach since 1960.

Taylor, a native of Wynne, Ark., was Baugh's favorite receiver in eight years with the Washington Redskins. The former end was called as an assistant when Baugh took over the New York Titans and again when he took over the Oilers last summer.

Baugh said behind-the-desk duties of the head coaching position kept him away from his West Texas ranch too much and were the cause of his giving up a contract which had a year to run.

Fall Injures Area Woman

A Chester woman injured in a fall and a Wellsville child who received an eye injury on a coat hanger were among five area residents treated at City Hospital Tuesday.

Lester Russell, 4, son of Lester Russell, 1609 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, received a puncture wound of the right cornea on a coat hanger.

Richard Harmon, 18, of 212 E. 3rd St. received an ankle injury when he twisted it walking down an embankment.

Light 'Sticks' On Red, Brings Traffic Jam

The traffic signal on W. 6th St. at Jackson St. switched to red this morning about 7:30—and just stayed that way.

The line of waiting motorists knew something was wrong, but no one ventured to proceed. A police cruiser was the first car in line at the signal.

Patrolman J. A. Walsh alighted from the police car and waved the motorists through the signal. Officers remained at the scene to direct traffic while the Sayre Electric Co., which maintains the signals, was notified to send a worker. A stuck control was blamed.

Pleas Court Takes Swipe At Credit Card

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has taken a swipe at the credit card.

The court at New Orleans said credit cards have value only to the company, as a device for making invoices, and cannot be classed as a security.

The court overthrew the conviction of a Jacksonville man who is serving four years for interstate transportation of a stolen credit card.

Collier Awarded 3-Year Contract

CLEVELAND (AP) — Blanton Collier, the soft-spoken Kentucky gentleman in his second year as Cleveland Browns' coach, has been signed to a new three-year contract, Art Modell, club president, announced today.

The salary was not disclosed.

"I am delighted with the masterful job Blanton has done for us since taking over as head coach two years ago," Modell said. "His record of 20 wins, seven losses and one tie . . . in the toughest football league in the world is better than that of any of his contemporaries in the past two seasons."

Collier, 58, was signed to a three-year contract early in 1963 when Modell fired Paul Brown as head coach. The Browns' 7-6-1 record in 1962 was the second worst in the club's history, including four years (1946-1949) in the old All-American Conference. The new contract will run through 1967.

"I am most grateful for Art Modell's confidence in me and my staff," said Collier. "I sincerely hope that we can justify his confidence in us, because he is deserving of the very best.

"Frankly, my thoughts have been more upon the championship game than upon what was going to happen to me."

The Browns finished with a 10-4 record last season under Collier, second in the Eastern Division to the New York Giants. This year they won the division title with a 10-3-1 record.

Firemen Trace Odor To Sewer Cleaner

A compound being used by the city to clean detergents from the main sewer line was found to be the source of an odor in the home of two Wellsville homes Tuesday afternoon.

Firemen were called at 4:55 p. m. to check the odor at the home of Robert Hall, 1604 Commerce St., and Leonard DeFalco, 1608 Commerce.

The Ohio Valley Gas Co. crew checked the homes and determined no natural gas was involved.

It was then determined that the odor was from the compound being used to clean out the sewers. It is harmless, but has a peculiar odor, city officials reported.

Serling Unworried Over U.N. Show

"I am complimented when I hear that the Birchers are knocking me," says Rod Serling, one of television's few famous writers.

Hal Humphrey

His remark was occasioned by the news that "Carol for Another Christmas," the 90-minute Serling drama which next Monday leads off a series of six TV specials inspired by the United Nations, already has attracted critical mail at ABC from John Birch Society members.

"The network has kept this Birch mail from me," Serling adds. "I suppose they were being considerate of my feelings, but they needn't have worried."

FROM THE TIME it was announced last April that a sponsor would underwrite this $4 million project to dramatize a range of U.N. activities via six TV specials, the radical rightists began mounting a campaign of pressure designed to force scuttling of the shows.

Serling, producer Joseph Mankiewicz and all of the actors involved in "Carol for Another Christmas" virtually donated their services by working for scale. The actors include such usually expensive names as Peter Sellers, Sterling Hayden, Eva Marie Saint, Steve Lawrence and Ben Gazzara.

"Before we started shooting last September, Sterling Hayden was offered a role for $50,000 in a movie, which he turned down for this," reports Serling.

HAYDEN'S sacrifice was brought up because Serling first had some unkind things to say about one actor who turned down the show.

"There are a lot of parlor liberals who get all warm over a martini at somebody's party and proclaim they are ready to help any good cause any time. But when the time comes, they are totally committed to something else. We had trouble getting actors," says Serling.

The story Serling wrote took him five months and several rewrites and is about a modern-day Scrooge who doesn't want to involve himself in the outside world. The character's name originally was Benjamin Brudge, and his friends called him B.G.

"I HAD TO CHANGE it to Fred, or something like that," Serling says. "Somebody at the network was afraid people might think we were kidding Barry Goldwater (B. G.).

"I must say, though, that ABC is to be commended for the way it has cooperated generally. Don't forget, CBS wouldn't even take any of the shows," adds Serling.

Telsun Foundation, Inc., the nonprofit organization headed by Paul G. Hoffman to develop the six programs, wanted to buy time on all three networks with two programs for each. But like the character in Serling's drama, CBS did not want to become involved.

"Acceptance . . . would establish a vital precedential principle," said CBS Vice President Dick Salant at the time. "And so the John Birch Society would demand that we broadcast a series of documentaries and dramas produced by it designed to establish its virtues . . ."

OBVIOUSLY CBS has honored the Birch Society here by putting it on an equal official basis with the United Nations and Birch founder Robert Welch should feel quite set up about this.

When the sponsor's president was asked last April why his company was subsidizing the TV programs, he said: "How ridiculous it would be for us to build a show room in New York without simultaneously trying to build a peaceful world."

Hearing Set Monday On Convention Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Opponents of a proposed federal constitutional convention on apportionment will have another chance to attack the proposal.

Supporters of the plan to try to get an amendment dealing with apportionment of state legislatures also could have their say at a hearing Dec. 28, the day before the special session of the Ohio legislature concludes.

But House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, said no legislative action is planned at the Dec. 29 meeting of the House concurrent resolution sponsored by Rep. Lloyd George Kerns, R-Union, to call on Congress to call a constitutional convention.

Record For Appliance Sales Seen In 1965

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Sales of major appliances could follow a record year this year with another one in 1965. That's the optimistic forecast of Herman F. Lehman, general manager of General Motors' Frigidaire Division here, in a year-end report Tuesday.

Lehman said major appliance sales in the next five years should rise 20 per cent and should be the same or better next year than in 1964. Sales this year will be about 11 per cent higher than 1963's record, he said.

Children Get Wish—In New Home Today

The fondest wish of the 22 youngsters at the Hancock County Children's Home came true today when they moved into their new home adjacent to the old structure on Gas Valley Rd. near Pughtown.

On Christmas Day the youngsters will sit down to a turkey dinner with all the trimmings. The menu includes tomato juice, chicken noodle soup, turkey and dressing, candied sweet potatoes, mashed potatoes, giblet gravy, green beans, cranberry salad, and mince meat and pumpkin pie.

A party for the youngsters was held last night at the home by Stone & Thomas of Wheeling, which also erected a tree and decorated the new home. Each child was presented a gift, Mrs. Wayland Lancaster, home supervisor, said.

Many groups have entertained the children in the past week.

The Weirton Elks feted the children Saturday and they were guests of the Weirton American Legion on Monday.

They will be feted tonight at the Community Youth Center in Weirton.

Carol singing will be held on Christmas Eve by a group from the Pughtown Christian Church, led by the Rev. J. L. Deitch.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes lost his driver Tuesday but everyone—including the driver—was happy about it. The driver, Floyd Bunyon, 38, was paroled from Ohio Penitentiary where he was sentenced on a first degree murder charge in 1948.

The Pardon and Parole Commission commuted the sentence to second degree, making Bunyon eligible for parole. He had driven for Rhodes for about a year.

Signup Of Aliens Will Begin Jan. 1

Thomas M. Pederson, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service at Cleveland said that aliens in the United States will be required to report their addresses to the attorney general within the near future.

All aliens, with few exceptions, who are in the United States on Jan. 1 each year must report their addresses by the end of that month. Only the following classes of aliens are excused from this requirement: (1) Accredited Diplomats; (2) Persons accredited to certain international organizations; and (3) Those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers.

Forms with which to make the report may be obtained from any Post Office during January.

Pederson said the law provides severe penalties for failure to comply with the reporting requirement.

IN loving memory of my husband, Sgt. Harry B. Cater, who was killed in action twenty years ago tonight during the Battle of the Bulge (Dec. 23, 1944).
It doesn't take a special day

For the days I do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
My heart still aches with sadness,
My eyes shed many tears;
God alone knows how much I miss
you at the end of these twenty years.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Serling Unworried Over U.N. Show

"I am complimented when I hear that the Birchers are knocking me," says Rod Serling, one of television's few famous writers.

Hal Humphrey

His remark was occasioned by the news that "Carol for Another Christmas," the 90-minute Serling drama which next Monday leads off a series of six TV specials inspired by the United Nations, already has attracted critical mail at ABC from John Birch Society members.

"The network has kept this Birch mail from me," Serling adds. "I suppose they were being considerate of my feelings, but they needn't have worried."

FROM THE TIME it was announced last April that a sponsor would underwrite this $4 million project to dramatize a range of U.N. activities via six TV specials, the radical rightists began mounting a campaign of pressure designed to force scuttling of the shows.

Serling, producer Joseph Mankiewicz and all of the actors involved in "Carol for Another Christmas" virtually donated their services by working for scale. The actors include such usually expensive names as Peter Sellers, Sterling Hayden, Eva Marie Saint, Steve Lawrence and Ben Gazzara.

"Before we started shooting last September, Sterling Hayden was offered a role for $50,000 in a movie, which he turned down for this," reports Serling.

HAYDEN'S sacrifice was brought up because Serling first had some unkind things to say about one actor who turned down the show.

"There are a lot of parlor liberals who get all warm over a martini at somebody's party and proclaim they are ready to help any good cause any time. But when the time comes, they are totally committed to something else. We had trouble getting actors," says Serling.

The story Serling wrote took him five months and several rewrites and is about a modern-day Scrooge who doesn't want to involve himself in the outside world. The character's name originally was Benjamin Brudge, and his friends called him B.G.

"I HAD TO CHANGE it to Fred, or something like that," Serling says. "Somebody at the network was afraid people might think we were kidding Barry Goldwater (B. G.).

"I must say, though, that ABC is to be commended for the way it has cooperated generally. Don't forget, CBS wouldn't even take any of the shows," adds Serling.

Telsun Foundation, Inc., the nonprofit organization headed by Paul G. Hoffman to develop the six programs, wanted to buy time on all three networks with two programs for each. But like the character in Serling's drama, CBS did not want to become involved.

"Acceptance . . . would establish a vital precedential principle," said CBS Vice President Dick Salant at the time. "And so the John Birch Society would demand that we broadcast a series of documentaries and dramas produced by it designed to establish its virtues . . ."

OBVIOUSLY CBS has honored the Birch Society here by putting it on an equal official basis with the United Nations and Birch founder Robert Welch should feel quite set up about this.

When the sponsor's president was asked last April why his company was subsidizing the TV programs, he said: "How ridiculous it would be for us to build a show room in New York without simultaneously trying to build a peaceful world."

Hearing Set Monday On Convention Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Opponents of a proposed federal constitutional convention on apportionment will have another chance to attack the proposal.

Supporters of the plan to try to get an amendment dealing with apportionment of state legislatures also could have their say at a hearing Dec. 28, the day before the special session of the Ohio legislature concludes.

But House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, said no legislative action is planned at the Dec. 29 meeting on the House concurrent resolution sponsored by Rep. Lloyd George Kerns, R-Union, to call on Congress to call a constitutional convention.

Record For Appliance Sales Seen In 1965

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Sales of major appliances could follow a record year this year with another one in 1965. That's the optimistic forecast of Herman F. Lehman, general manager of General Motors' Frigidaire Division here, in a year-end report Tuesday.

Lehman said major appliance sales in the next five years should rise 20 per cent and should be the same or better next year than in 1964. Sales this year will be about 11 per cent higher than 1963's record, he said.

Children Get Wish—In New Home Today

The fondest wish of the 22 youngsters at the Hancock County Children's Home came true today when they moved into their new home adjacent to the old structure on Gas Valley Rd. near Pughtown.

On Christmas Day the youngsters will sit down to a turkey dinner with all the trimmings. The menu includes tomato juice, chicken noodle soup, turkey and dressing, candied sweet potatoes, mashed potatoes, giblet gravy, green beans, cranberry salad, and mince meat and pumpkin pie.

A party for the youngsters was held last night at the home by Stone & Thomas of Wheeling, which also erected a tree and decorated the new home. Each child was presented a gift, Mrs. Wayland Lancaster, home supervisor, said.

Many groups have entertained the children in the past week.

The Weirton Elks feted the children Saturday and they were guests of the Weirton American Legion on Monday.

They will be feted tonight at the Community Youth Center in Weirton.

Carol singing will be held on Christmas Eve by a group from the Pughtown Christian Church, led by the Rev. J. L. Deitch.

Gov. Rhodes' Driver Paroled From Prison

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes lost his driver Tuesday but everyone—including the driver—was happy about it. The driver, Floyd Bunyon, 38, was paroled from Ohio Penitentiary where he was sentenced on a first degree murder charge in 1948.

The Pardon and Parole Commission commuted the sentence to second degree, making Bunyon eligible for parole. He had driven for Rhodes for about a year.

Signup Of Aliens Will Begin Jan. 1

Thomas M. Pederson, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service at Cleveland said that aliens in the United States will be required to report their addresses to the attorney general within the near future.

All aliens, with few exceptions, who are in the United States on Jan. 1 each year must report their addresses by the end of that month. Only the following classes of aliens are excused from this requirement: (1) Accredited Diplomats; (2) Persons accredited to certain international organizations; and (3) Those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers.

Forms with which to make the report may be obtained from any Post Office during January.

Pederson said the law provides severe penalties for failure to comply with the reporting requirement.

2 IN MEMORIAM

It doesn't take a special day
To bring you to my mind;
For the days I do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
My heart still aches with sadness,
My eyes shed many tears;
God alone knows how much I miss
you at the end of these twenty years.

Junior Editors Quiz on ANTARCTICA

QUESTION: Books often mention the Antarctic Ocean, yet the maps don't seem to show it. Why is this?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: This situation does seem confusing. Actually, there is an Antarctic Ocean, and at the same time there isn't. We have probably confused you still more; but look at the map. We are looking directly down on the Antartic continent, with the South Pole nearly in the middle. Notice the 3 King Neptune figures; they are symbols of three great oceans, the Pacific, the Atlantic and the Indian, whose water flow down and lap against Antarctica. Since these three oceans surround Antartica, why speak of an Antarctic one? On the other hand, there is a special ring of very cold water surrounding this icy continent, some of which comes from melting ice, and which we show as a ring of white on our map. This cold water mixes with that of the other oceans, but it more or less dominates the white band up to a point, roughly at about latitude 55 degrees south. There it meets the main body of warmer water — this meeting place being called the Antartic Convergence Line, varying between 63 and 47 degrees of south latitude. It is this circle of cold water which is meant by the Antarctic Ocean. Since cold water is heavy, this sinks under the warmer water when meeting it; but some cold water keeps moving as ocean currents some to the east, some north.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Look at the more usual kind of world map. Trace the three great oceans to see how they lead down to Antarctica.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 23, the 358th day of 1964. There are eight days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1783, George Washington resigned his commission as commander-in-chief of the Continental Army at the statehouse in Annapolis, Md. He then retired to his home at Mount Vernon, Va.

On this date

In 1788, Maryland voted to cede a district 10 miles square for the seat of the national government.

In 1823, Clement Moore's "A Visit from St. Nicholas" was first published in the Troy, (N.Y.), Sentinel.

Ten years ago — Four Russians were executed as conspirators with purged Communist leader Lavrenty Beria.

One year ago — At least 877 persons who abandoned the burning Greek liner Lakonia in the Atlantic were picked up; 24 bodies were recovered and 135 persons reported missing.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I remove ink stains from linens, washable silks, and cottons?

A. — Canned tomato juice is often a big help. Soak the stained areas in the juice for about 10 minutes, rinse, and then wash as usual.

Q. — How can I remove spots from hardwood floors?

A. — They can often be removed by dampening a soft cloth in rubbing alcohol, wiping over the spots, then applying a good coat of wax.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I bought some plastic foam rubber and cut a piece of it in the shape of a sponge, then hand - stitched three layers of net on one side only.

This makes the best dish sponge ever.

I use the foam side to wipe the table and the net side to scratch the "sticky" with (for those who have little ones who sometimes miss their mouths, as mine do).

"LEN."

DEAR HELOISE: Let's have pity on the optician and people's temple hinges.

Don't replace lost screws with tooth picks. We recommend that one merely join the temple hinge to the front hinge of the frame and sew through this little hole with a needle and thread, or use a tiny safety pin so as not to strip the threads.

DEAR HELOISE: The plastic baskets that strawberries, etc., sometimes come in are handy gadgets for the house.

I use one for the soap pads by the sink, one holds jar lids, another keeps my fingernail polish bottles in one spot, and one may be used as an extra colander.

At Christmas, I decorate the baskets by weaving red ribbon through the sides and filling them with candy or cookies totally wrapped in red nylon net.

MRS. C. M. GREEN, Jr.

DEAR HELOISE: This hint is for mothers whose children have soiled stuffed toys:

Buy a large bag of shredded foam, usually less than a dollar. When the toys become soiled, just rip out the closing seam, pull out all of the cotton stuffing and replace it with the chopped foam.

They will come out nice and clean and always stay soft for the baby. The synthetic pile (NOT real fur) on the outside of the toy can be brushed beautifully with a vegetable brush. It is all nice and fluffy and like new again.

DEAR HELOISE: The other night we had frozen dinners for the first time, and after we ate, I started to throw the foil plates away.

I decided they were exactly what I needed for my 18-month - old daughter. She loves to eat from them since each food has its own compartment!

If it drops on the floor it doesn't break; it is easily scalded for sanitary purposes, and the ridge is just perfect to keep the food in the tray when she uses her spoon.

SANDY LOCKHART.

DEAR HELOISE: I find that if I rinse my plastic curtains, or other plastic articles, in warm water, then hang them to drip, they are much more pliable and less wrinkled when dry.

MRS. A. JINKS.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: After five years of hard wear, our living room set, upholstered in nylon frieze, had fibers sticking up all over.

I hit upon the idea of shaving, yes shaving, off the fibers with electric clippers.

It worked wonderfully and the set looks like new again.

DEAR HELOISE: When my father wanted to scrape the frost off the windshield, he couldn't find the scraper.

He decided to try using the plastic cover from one of the new coffee cans and believe it or not, he found that it worked better than the regular scraper.

Seems so many uses have been found for these new cans, but I bet no one else thought of using the cover as a scraper.

Elkton Youths Give Pageant

Kenneth Dixon, student at Ohio State University and son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dixon, is home for the holidays.

The Mothers Club of the Elkton School has packed baskets for needy families and distributed them. The lunch committee for the January meeting consists of Mrs. Ralph Apple, Mrs. Harry Morris and Mrs. Herbert Wedge.

The WSCS of the Methodist Church will meet Jan. 13 with Mrs. Raymond Apple. Members will take a sack lunch.

$70,500 Suit Filed In Auto Agency Sale

LISBON— Lee Bertolette and Roderick Bertolette, who operated the Bertolette Rambler agency in East Palestine, filed suit for $70,500 in Common Pleas Court Tuesday against the purchaser of their business.

They allege Rollin S. Shoemaker, also of East Palestine, paid only two monthly installments of $1,000 since taking over the firm in August, has refused to pay anymore and is "running down the business, with the result the company is not respected."

They claim he agreed to pay $1,000 monthly for a total of $22,500. They ask $50,000 for breach of contract and "ruining" the Bertollete name and $20,500 as the balance due on the transaction.

Graduates As Officer, Serviceman Assigned

Second Lt. David T. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley F. Allen, 930 Bradshaw Ave., has been assigned to the 319th Military Intelligence battalion at Ft. Hood, Tex.

The assignment was made after he was graduated from officer candidate school at Ft. Benning, Ga., and completed a basic military intelligence course at Ft. Holabird, Md.

Lt. Allen was graduated from East Liverpool High School in 1959 and Southern Illinois University in 1963.
